Young Woman Is Hurlled To Her Death From Hotel; Lover Then Leaps After Her

WASHINGTON, June 13.—(INS)—An attractive 25-year-old brunette, scantily clad in pink panties, was hurled from the ninth floor of a Washington hotel early today and was followed by her lover in what police believed was a sensational murder-suicide.

The couple was identified as Dorothy Dieter Mahoney, mother of a three-year-old girl, and Arthur D. Millson, 36, married but separated for 18 months from his wife and three sons. Both lived in Washington.

Examination of the dead girl's body and the room she and Millson had occupied as Mr. and Mrs. Arthur D. Millson of San Francisco, led police to assert that the girl probably was dead before she was thrown out of the Lafayette hotel.

Both bodies landed within a few feet of each other on the roof of the first floor dining room.

The girl's torn body lay sprawled on the roof for almost a half hour (Continued on Page Two)

To Collect Wool Here Next Week

Lawrence County Wool Growers Will Have Annual Ingathering Of Wool Crop

Lawrence county's wool crop will be gathered next week, when the annual wool pool of the Lawrence County Wool Growers Association will take place, Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, President R. P. Peebles announces.

On Monday, the wool growers of Butler county will present their wool at the B. and O. Station there, and in New Castle, that wool will be brought to the B. and O. station at South Mill and Division on Tuesday and Wednesday. Tuesday's hours are from 7:30 to 4 o'clock, and Wednesday, from 7:30 to 3 o'clock.

W. B. Connel, wool expert from Penn State College will be here to assist with the grading of the wool, which will be further graded at Boston, where it will be accepted by the Commodity Credit Corporation at prevailing ceiling prices.

PA NEW OBSERVES

Tomorrow is Flag Day, and flags should be flying everywhere in the city and county throughout the day in observance.

Pennsylvania's state capitol at Harrisburg will be closed for three days at the end of today's business in observance of "Flag Day." Business will be resumed Monday morning.

Pa New notices that an average of 15 to 20 of the large automobile convoys are traveling through the city daily, carrying new autos to car hungry motorists in other cities in the East.

According to H. M. Phillips, superintendent of garbage collection in New Castle, garbage gathered in this city does not give the impression that much food is being wasted here.

An innovation in hazard warnings has been installed by one of the local utility companies, Pa New noted Wednesday evening, near the P. & L. E. crossing on the East Side. Instead of using the old type of burning lanterns over the excavation, an automatic rotating signal, electrically illuminated was used warning motorists that work was in progress.

Pa New sighted the dog catcher's wagon in operation on the East Side of the city Wednesday afternoon. Much more territory was being covered by the vehicle than could be covered on foot. While one man drove the vehicle, the dog catcher watched for the stray pooches.

Butterworth Is Killed In Crash

HOLLYWOOD, June 13.—(INS)—Charles Edward Butterworth, 46-year-old droll actor, was killed today in a spectacular automobile accident.

The accident happened at Sunset Boulevard and Pluma Road, where his English-made roadster came out of control at terrific speed and crashed into a building with such force that the actor was thrown on his head to the cement pavement.

The actor, who had been living at the Bel Air hotel, was pronounced dead upon arrival at General hospital.

Highway patrol officers said the roadster, which struck the building with such force that the battery was torn loose from the cables and thrown into the street, was completely demolished.

Butterworth attended Notre Dame University where he obtained an LL.B. degree. He passed the Indiana state bar examination then obtained a cub reporter's job on the South Bend News-Times.

Byrnes Leaving For Paris Parley

WASHINGTON, June 13.—(INS)—Secretary of State James F. Byrnes leaves today for Paris in a fresh attempt to break the deadlock of the "Big Four" foreign ministers, who have yet failed to formulate peace treaties for Europe.

Byrnes, on his departure was reported to be hopeful of finding a solution since he is convinced that Europe without peace this coming winter will be chaos.

The secretary is known to have one formula whereby he hopes to solve the immediate problem of dealing with Germany. That is to create a federation of states which ultimately will come under the control of a central government, meanwhile permitting the integration of Germany's economy.

Report Fighting Around Tsingtao

Chinese Battle In Suburbs Of City Where U. S. Marines Are Stationed

NANKING, June 13.—(INS)—The Chinese Central News Agency reported today that severe fighting between Nationalists and Communists is going on in the suburbs of Tsingtao, where United States Marines are stationed.

The government-controlled agency also reported that Chinese Communists in more than 20 salubrious attempts to make a landing at Tsingtao at 11 p. m. last night but were repulsed by Nationalist troops defending the strategic port on the Yellow Sea.

The government newspaper Ta Kung Pao said that the Nationalist garrison was made up of only 8,000 troops against an attacking force of 20,000 Communists.

The paper said that a British cruiser arrived at Tsingtao from Shanghai yesterday.

Maj. Gen. Keller Rockey, commander of U. S. Marines in China, and Admiral Charles Cooke, Jr., were also in the city to appraise the situation of American forces.

Orders Drive On Speeders

MAYOR JOHN F. HAVEN today instructed Chief of Police Robert D. Hanna to immediately stop speeding in New Castle streets.

He instructed the chief to use all of the cruiser cars and as many police as required to stop speeding in all sections of the city.

Mayor Haven said that only a small percentage of motorists speed, and these are the drivers police have been instructed to arrest with prosecution to follow in the courts of local aldermen.

Senate Nearing Final Vote On O.P.A. Measure

Threat Of Possible Veto By President Hangs Over Amended Bill

WASHINGTON, June 13.—(INS)—The Senate neared a final vote today on an amendment-riddled O.P.A. bill over which hung the threat of a possible veto by President Truman.

Majority Leader Barkley predicted passage "within a few hours" after the Senate convened at 11 a. m. EST. Final action was delayed Wednesday by the death of Sen. Bankhead (D. Ala.).

The legislation extends the price control act for one year beyond its June 30 expiration date. Following Senate passage it goes to a joint conference committee of the two houses, where administration leaders hope to fashion a compromise suitable to the White House.

Mr. Truman has already given notice that he can not approve the House bill and O.P.A. officials have denounced the measure as revised by the Senate as still worse.

Barkley said the conferees expected to include a majority favorable to continuance of a strong O.P.A. would have "wide latitude" in reaching a compromise and could virtually write a new bill. It must then be submitted, however, to the House and Senate for their approval before it can be sent to the White House.

As the Senate went into its third day on the vital legislation, the chamber had agreed to limit debate to a half-hour on the bill itself and a half-hour on each amendment.

Proposal For Purchase Of Terrace School

Within a short time it is possible the Terrace avenue school, closed for some years, will again be in use.

At the meeting of the New Castle school board Wednesday night, June 22, Rev. F. V. Stancilewski said he was most desirous of obtaining the building for use as a school for the church of St. Philip and James and indicated that he would be willing to offer $10,000 for it.

The board had previously placed a price of $15,000 upon the building when it was thought it might be sold for a warehouse or other purposes. In view of the fact that Rev. Stancilewski wishes to use it as a school the board agreed that if the offer was made at the sale to be held Friday, June 15, it would be agreeable to accepting it.

Rev. Stancilewski explained to the board that it was his intention, if the building were sold to him, to use the building not alone as a school, but as a branch library and as a center for other interests in the Terrace avenue neighborhood.

The building was closed some years ago.

Adopt Ordinance Selling Buildings At Deshon Annex

When council met Thursday in city hall council adopted the Joe Alexander ordinance which sold to Cleveland J. Pivonem, Emerson L. and Charles Bowers, nine buildings and also leased the land upon which they are located in Cunningham Park, for $8,500, to aid the veterans emergency housing situation.

The ordinance authorized Mayor John F. Haven to execute a contract to this effect.

The purchasers will convert the buildings into apartments, according to city officials and the buyers.

Back Your Future

By COMDR. JACK DEMPSEY

WASHINGTON, June 13.—(INS)—Now that the war has been won we have to make the peace secure for ourselves and our children. I know of no better way to provide for the future than by purchasing United States Savings Bonds.

The opportunity for every citizen to back his future is one that should not be overlooked. Let's all knock out fear of the future by buying United States Savings Bonds.

House Committee Meets To Consider Black-Jackson Feud

WASHINGTON, June 13.—(INS)—The house judiciary committee meets behind closed doors today to decide whether to intervene in the Jackson-Black feud.

There were indications that the ground was in a mood to air the whole story behind Jackson's charges that Black participated in decisions on two cases before the supreme court in which his former law partner represented the winning parties.

Short Of Impeachment

Agreement was general, however, that committee action should stop short of formal impeachment proceedings since there were no grounds for this grave step in any charges made thus far.

One influential legislator held the threat of impeachment over the warring justices if their battle was (Continued on Page Two)

British Army Colonels Deny Trial Charges

Deny They Urged Chetnik Leaders To Attack Tito's Partisans

LONDON, June 13.—(INS)—Two British army colonels, involved in the trial of Gen. Draja Mihailovich by the official Yugoslav prosecution, denied today they urged the Chetnik leader to attack Tito's partisans.

Simultaneously, the British government officially called upon the Brigade commander to prove the charges against the liaison officers.

Lt. Col. William Bailey, called from Ankara disclaiming he told Mihailovich that the Communists must be wiped out prior to an imminent allied landing on the Dalmatian coast.

He denied mentioning, or even suggesting indirectly, that there was a possibility of an allied landing or that any anti-Communist action should be undertaken.

Sought To Unite Leaders

A British foreign office spokesman said Bailey's instructions, far from encouraging moves against Tito, called upon Bailey to attempt to bring the two guerrilla units together.

As a result of Bailey's discussions with the Chetnik chieftain, the spokesman said, Mihailovich publicly criticized Britain. Thereafter, relations between the Chetniks and British liaison officers remained cool.

Col. Hudson, in a parallel statement, denied saying "it was not the business of Mihailovich to fight for Russia."

He claimed he told both the Chetniks and Tito's partisans that their "fight for Yugoslavia should not be carried on by any other power—Russia or Britain."

One-Day Round Trip Flight Is Made Across U.S.

MARCH FIELD, Cal., June 13.—(INS)—Three P-80 "Shooting Star" pilots worked the aches out of their muscles today after racing their jet-propelled fighter planes across the continent and back in 12 hours, 15 minutes flying time—the first one-day round trip flight in history.

The men who ate hearty dinner last night at the same West Coast mess table where they ate breakfast in the early morning—and lunched in Washington, D. C., at midday—were Col. Leon Gray of Casa Grande, Ariz., Major Robin Olds, of Beverly Hills, Cal., and Lt. J. Richardson of Oklahoma City.

A fourth pilot, Lt. Dean D. Cox, of Manhattan Beach, Cal., was forced to drop out at Tinker Field, Oklahoma City, when he accidentally jettisoned his external fuel tanks. He hopped leisurely (Continued on Page Two)

Soldier-Father Speeds To Side Of His Dying Son

Pittsburgh Hospital Scene Of Pitiful Case, Youngster Wants 'Daddy'

PITTSBURGH, June 13.—(INS)—Six-year-old Danny Schapper was slowly dying today in Pittsburgh hospital, even as his soldier father speeded homeward from Manila by plane.

Private Dan Schapper was expected to arrive at his son's bedside sometime today, but doctors gave no assurance that his young son would be alive to greet him.

A friend of the Schapper family said: "All day yesterday little Dan called for his father. It was the most pitiful sight you could imagine."

The child was injured a week ago when he fell against a curbstone while playing. He suffered a ruptured spleen.

Young Woman Found Dead In Boxcar

PRAIRIE DU CHIEN, Wis., June 13.—(INS)—Police sought today to identify a 22-year-old blonde woman, whose body was found in a boxcar near Prairie Du Chien.

Police said the woman died of natural causes. It was believed at first that she had been murdered.

Dr. Thomas Farrell said death might have been caused by an overdose of narcotics.

A prescription packet from a Cicero, Ill. drug store for 10 grains of morphine sulphate was found among the woman's effects.

Lawrence County Convention In Progress Today At Third U. P. Church

YOUNGSTOWN PASTOR TO SPEAK TONIGHT

With the eight districts of the Lawrence County Sabbath School Association well represented, the 108th session of the organization got under way this morning in the Third U. P. church at 9:15 o'clock, with Rev. G. S. Bennett, pastor of the First Christian church, conducting the devotional period using as his theme, "Christ for Our Boys and Girls of Today." He was assisted by Boy and Girl Scouts of the county in the devotional period.

Appointment of the various committees for the convention took place at 9:30, with reports heard, after which Rev. C. R. Thayer, pastor of the host church welcomed the convention to the church.

Address By Dr. Galbreath

Reports of officers and staff members preceded the morning address by Dr. R. F. Galbreath, retiring president of Westminster College. Dr. Galbreath used the convention theme, "The Victorious Christ" as the subject of his address.

Immediately following Dr. Galbreath's address, Robert M. Strickler, president of the Lawrence County Sabbath School Association turned the remainder of the morning (Continued on Page Two)

Attempt To Free Pennsy Water Line In Shenango River

Workmen of the Pennsylvania railroad worked from a rowboat this morning in an attempt to free a clogged water line that lies on the bottom of the Shenango river and feeds the storage tank near the passenger station.

The line supplies water to the 60,000 gallon tank, which in turn is used to fill the locomotives. Engines require some 2,000 gallons each filling.

The workers used grappling hooks to probe beneath the river. It was explained that the recent floods caused the obstruction, either with mud or stones which wash into the pipe.

Former King Of Italy Leaves For Portugal Exile

Deposed King Humbert Boards Plane For Portugal During Day

SEEK TO AVOID NEW OUTBREAKS (BULLETIN)

ROME, June 13.—(INS)—Former King Humbert of Italy, deposed by a popular referendum which ended the 900-year reign of the House of Savoy, today left his country by air for exile in Portugal.

Almost at the moment of his departure, Pope Pius XII intervened in the critical Italian situation at command of the country, recognized as titular head of a provisional Republican government.

Apostolic Muncio

The Pope dispatched an Apostolic Muncio to visit the premier and advise moderation to avoid the threat of civil war hanging over strident Italy. Diehard monarchists still consider King Humbert their "legal" chief of state, despite the recent referendum which ousted him.

A new threat of the Italian situation developed when Giuseppe Pagano, chief justice of the supreme court, which is charged with checking the election returns and confirming the republic, revealed to a close friend that he planned to resign.

The chief justice was said to have taken this position because of the terrific pressure being exerted by one faction of the cabinet and the unprecedented attacks against the supreme court by the leftwing press.

Continued bloody clashes occurred between Royalists and Republicans.

The cabinet, however, stuck to its position the results of the recent plebiscite on the monarchy means the nation is now a republic in fact.

The deposed monarch's counselors charged that if De Gasperi signs any official decree over the title (Continued on Page Two)

U.N. Council To Again Tackle Issue Of Spain

NEW YORK, June 13.—(INS)—The United Nations security council again tackled the controversial issue of Fascist Spain today, with indications that it will adopt a compromise plan for action against the Franco government.

The session was preceded by 48 hours of separate conferences among the delegates in an effort to persuade extremists, notably Russia, to make the compromise vote unanimous as a demonstration of solidarity against the Franco regime.

The chief item at issue is the report of a council sub-committee recommending that all the United Nations break off diplomatic relations with Spain unless it changes its form of government by September. Up to now Soviet delegate Andrei Gromyko has stood out for more immediate action.

Under the compromise plan, championed chiefly by the United States and Britain, action against Franco's government would be left to the U. N. general assembly when it convenes in New York in September.

The Spanish issue is only one of four world-important matters coming before the United Nations today and tomorrow.

New Teachers Are Named Here

School Board Acts On Num- ber Of Teaching Assign- ments On Wednesday Night

Two teachers were elected by the New Castle school board as "temporary professional" employees Wednesday night when the board met. They are Jack M. Dunlap of New Castle, health education, and Pearl Graff Crawford of New Castle, Franklin junior. Jane A. Dickson, who was elected as dental hygienist a month ago, was given a contract as a temporary professional employee.

Dr. G. Kepler Mills, at present professor of physical education in the University of Pittsburgh, was elected director of health and physical education for the New Castle schools. He will have charge of setting up a physical education program from the first grade through the senior high school and train teachers to carry out the program. He is a graduate of the University of Michigan, University of Pittsburgh, has held positions in Centerville, Pa., California, Pa., Shannokin, Pa., was head of the department of physical education and health for men in the University of Alabama and professor of physical education for the University of Pittsburgh.

Professional contracts were given to Alfred Fenton Barnes as a teacher of vocational English for senior high school, and Garnetta M. Cameron as an elementary teacher.

Miss Elizabeth Brudin was named assistant to the secretary and business manager, succeeding Mrs. Harriet Johns, who recently died. Miss Myrna Donnelly was named to fill the vacancy as a clerk in the office of the business manager.

All professional employees who are at the basic maximum salary and who have received their master's degree were given $100 additional salary per year and those who have a master's degree and who have not reached the basic maximum salary were given $50 per year additional.

HOUSE COMMITTEE TO CONSIDER BLACK- JACKSON FEUD

later found to be seriously interfering with the conduct of court business and affecting the public esteem of the judiciary.

He added that an aroused public opinion would sanction "extreme measures to meet extreme situations."

Alternate Procedure
The house group had several alternative modes of procedure, although members were shy of predicting that any or all of them might be tried in meeting a situation unprecedented in court history.

One possibility, hinted at by Chairman Summers (D) Tex., when he said the committee might find itself under the duty "of making some representations to the house on its own responsibility" was a straight investigation, designed to get the facts and lay them before congress and the public.

May Be Delayed
If the committee should decide on this course the probe may be postponed until Jackson's return from Germany this fall to give him an opportunity to present his charges in person.

The conduct of a full dress investigation is complicated by house rules providing that funds for such a purpose must be approved by a house vote. It was possible the house might refuse to authorize such funds in view of the administration's evident desire to find a less public solution of the situation.

The house judiciary also had the alternative of dipping into its constitutional power to regulate the courts for a legal remedy.

This strategy was highlighted by Sen. Bridges (R) N. H., in a senate speech. Bridges called on congress to authorize the ouster of justices without impeachment proceedings when they are found to have violated a constitutional provision giving tenure during "good behavior."

Bridges pointed out that congress had never exercised its power to define the term "good behavior." He urged that the time was ripe for a law that would simplify the procedure for removing justices. At present, supreme court judges may be ousted only by impeachment on grounds of treason, bribery or other high crimes and misdemeanors.

"chief of state," the Republican assumption of power will become a coup d'etat.

They interpreted the government's move as "an affirmation of a juridical right in direct contrast to the king's thesis of who is chief of state."

Humbert Flees Capital
Humbert fled the capital for sanctuary on his estate outside the city as soon as the government announced its intention to take over. De Gasperi was said to consider the monarch in a state of house arrest. The king, on the other hand, condemned the premier for usurping power.

Although a supreme court ruling is expected tomorrow, one of the court's members told International News Service:

"In such a confused state of affairs, and there being such irregularities, it is quite likely the court will not give a definite verdict but leave it up to the constituent assembly to assume responsibilities."

Wild Reaction
Monarchists throughout Italy reacted with news of the Republic. Many were reported wounded in Rome when persons alleged to be Communists threw bombs in the midst of forty thousand Royalist demonstrators.

Rome, Naples and Taranto immediately witnessed bitter clashes between opposing factions, and the first blood was shed in the first time in the nation's civil strife.

Fears of a Royalist march on Rome led the government to establish road blocks at entrances to the capital.

American MPs and Polish units operating under British command established positions in the explosive Rignist stronghold of Naples.

FIRST COUNTY HEALTH FORUM RATED SUCCESS

fices of competent surgeons can bring hope of survival to persons so afflicted.

Cancer is not contagious, the doctor pointed out, nor is it inherited. Ranging in class from the low-grade to the malignant, it may strike anywhere in the body, with the disease of the vital organs the most difficult to cure. So far, only surgery can combat the march of the disease, he said. There is no panacea yet known to medical men. Dr. Wilbur Flannery presided at this session, with Paris Shoaff, M.D., of this city, giving the discussion.

Following the forum, resolutions were read by Mrs. Charles Allen, and the institute adjourned by Dr. Flannery.

Afternoon Sessions
Sessions began in the early afternoon with the first talk by David L. Perry, M.D., of this city on the control of tuberculosis. He dwelt on the discovery and cure of this malady. H. R. Sumner, M. D., of Ellwood City, gave the discussion.

Rheumatic heart disease was covered by Joseph Gurnam, M. D., of Pittsburgh, with Dr. J. O. Woods of this city delivering the discussion. Following this was an instructive talk on child care by Elwood W. Stitzel, M. D., of Altoona, followed by a discussion by Mary Baker Davis, M. D., of New Castle.

An illustrated lecture on the diet of the palate was given by Herbert E. Cooper, D.M.C. of Lancaster, Pa., with A. G. Reynolds, DDS, MSD, of this city, leading the discussion. One of the most vital talks of the day was delivered by Dr. Charles Francis Long of Philadelphia on industrial health. This lecture was attended by many of the manufacturing men of the city. J. Wesley Post, M. D., of this city, gave the discussion. Dr. E. F. Henderson introduced Dr. Long.

In the absence of Dr. Townsend W. Baer of Pittsburgh, W. A. Womer, M. D., of New Castle, delivered the talk on venereal disease in the state.

Danger Of Drugs
Fenton Hayes, assistant chief of the narcotic control division of the state department of health, substituted for Frank Armstrong, department head, and gave the lecture on the danger of drugs. Mr. Hayes illustrated his talk with an absorbing exhibit of confiscated drugs and instruments. He pointed out that the care of addicts in this state was very difficult due to the lack of proper facilities. Dr. J. Lumen Popp gave the discussion.

Dr. Mildred Rogers, general chairman of the institute, presided at the afternoon talks, which were attended by some 100 laymen, besides the professional assemblage. It is the hope of the Lawrence County Medical Society to again hold the institute in the city in 1947.

Persons who assisted to make the evening program a success were J. O. Huston, president of the county Tuberculosis society, who introduced the guests and led pep singing at the dinner; E. E. Branstetter, pianist, who played interm music, and Rev. V. V. Stanciewicz, who pronounced the invocation.

Miss Donna Marie Eckley of 802 Blaine street is confined to the New Castle hospital and is getting along as well as can be expected. She underwent an operation for appendicitis on Tuesday morning.

YOUNG WOMAN IS HURLED TO DEATH

while police tried to dissuade her companion from making his suicidal leap and firemen set up life nets.

Millison tossed out a chair as a warning to the firemen below, and then jumped out of the window as police pounded on the door. His body, clad in shorts, struck the roof several feet from the nets, he was rushed to Emergency hospital, where he died a few minutes afterward.

Miss Donna Marie Eckley of 802 Blaine street is confined to the New Castle hospital and is getting along as well as can be expected. She underwent an operation for appendicitis on Tuesday morning.

MARIAN CLARK WEDS WILLIAM R. MULFORD

Simplicity and informality marked one of the loveliest of the early summer weddings when Miss Marian Clark, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George R. Clark, of R. D. 7, Mahoningtown, became the bride of William R. Mulford, son of Mrs. William R. Mulford, of Amagansett, L. I. N. Y., on Wednesday.

The single ring ceremony was performed at 3:30 o'clock in the living room of the bride's home with Rev. John M. Fife, pastor of Westfield church, officiating, in the presence of a gathering of relatives and a few close friends.

Vases of white flowers were placed about the downstairs rooms.

The bride wore a floor-length gown of white point d'esprit fashioned with a full skirt and ruffle outlining the sweetheart neckline and wrists of the bodice. She carried a white Bible with a marker of white lilies and stephanotis.

After the ceremony refreshments were served to the guests.

The couple left on a wedding trip to an undisclosed destination and later will go on to Amagansett, and will take up residence on Long Island where Mr. Mulford is a station agent for the Pennsylvania Railroad.

Mrs. Mulford has been a teacher in the Mt. Jackson school and Highland grade school for the past several years.

HELEN DRUMHELLER'S BETROTHAL REVEALED

Mr. and Mrs. Robert L. Drumheller, of West Madison avenue, announce the engagement of their daughter, Helen Irene Drumheller, to Edward Harrison Gorst, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert H. Gorst, of Front street.

No date has been set for the wedding.

WIMODAUSIS PICNIC LUNCHEON EVENT

One hundred twenty-five ladies met in the Scottish Rite Cathedral for a picnic luncheon at 1 o'clock Wednesday afternoon at tables decorated with vases of mockorange blossoms.

Dessert was served by the club at the close of the basket luncheon. During the afternoon cards and games were in play with prizes going to Mrs. Roy Warnock, Mrs. Lou Moretti, Mrs. Jack Thompson and Mrs. Wilfred Thomas for games and Mrs. Alfred Sadler for cards.

Children's entertainment was in charge of Mrs. Earl Dart and books were awarded as prizes for their games.

Mrs. Harry L. McPeaters was chairman of picnic arrangements and Mrs. Grant Shaffer was in charge of games. Both were aided by committees.

In September the club will resume meetings with a luncheon meeting.

FIELD CLUB PLANS DINNER-DANCE

In continuation of the series of summer dances begun at the New Castle Field club two weeks ago with a Memorial Day dance, plans have been completed for a dinner-dance at the club Saturday evening, June 15.

Hors d'oeuvres will be served at 6 o'clock followed by dinner at 7:30 and at 9 o'clock there will be dancing to music of an orchestra.

Dr. Homer R. Allen and David P. McBride head the club's social committee.

Church Group Reunion

A reunion of the members of the old Fourth Presbyterian church will be conducted on Friday, July 19, at Cascade park. This will be the first reunion of the group since the war.

EPWORTH CHURCH SCENE OF WEDDING

Miss Norma Jean Kennedy, daughter of Mrs. Myrtle Kennedy, of 360 1/2 East Washington street, at a ceremony performed Saturday afternoon, June 8, at 2:30 o'clock in Epworth Methodist church, became the bride of Fred Kirkwood, son of Mrs. Laura Bell Kirkwood, 834 Harrison street.

Ferns and candles banked the altar before which Rev. Geo. R. D. Braun officiated with the double ring ceremony.

Given in marriage by her uncle, John Wimer, of Portersville, the bride wore a wedding gown of white marquisette, entrain, with full length tulle veil and she carried white gladiolas and snapdragons. Her only jewelry was a locket necklace.

Maid of honor was the bride's sister, Mrs. James Poble, who wore a gown of ivory yellow with yellow accessories, and bridesmaids were Mrs. Frank Nuzzo and the bride's aunt, Mrs. Samuel Coast, who were gowned alike in blue with pink accessories. All the attendants carried bouquets of pink snapdragons and carnations.

Little Miss Sally Coast was flower girl and trainbearers were the Misses Twila and Shirley May Wimer, cousins of the bride.

Carl Kirkwood was best man for his brother and ushers were Frank Nuzzo and Robert Baker.

Organ wedding music was played by Mrs. Anna Pyle.

Following the ceremony there was a reception at 4 o'clock for 45 guests at The Castleton.

Dispensing with a wedding trip for the present the newlyweds have taken up residence at the home of the bride's mother.

Mr. Kirkwood is employed at the National Radiator Company.

FORMER RESIDENT BRIDE IN NEVADA

Miss Helen Elizabeth Queer of Flushing, L. I. N. Y., daughter of Mrs. Elizabeth M. Queer of 412 Park avenue, this city, was married to William Francis Brown of Flushing in Elko, Nev., on June 3.

The ceremony took place in the home of J. R. Parent, Elko, with Rev. George Baldwin, minister of the Baptist church, officiating.

Mrs. Brown has been located in New York City for several years. She is soloist at the Dutch Reformed church of Flushing and is also connected with the Ars Musica Guild of New York City, being assistant director and soloist of that organization.

Formerly she was soloist at the First Methodist church of this city and took a prominent part in musical affairs here.

Mr. Brown is the designing engineer for Hatzel-Buehler Electric company of New York and is an inventor of note.

The newlyweds are now on a honeymoon to Yellowstone National Park and other points of interest in Colorado and Utah. Upon their return east they will be located on Sanford avenue, Flushing, L. I.

DENISON ALUMNI PICNIC JUNE 22

WASHINGTON CALLING

On-Job-Training

Abuses Are Related

WASHINGTON, June 13.—Young veterans are lining up before the doors of every university and college in the country. They are taking advantage of provisions of the G. I. bill of rights.

That is well and good. It is part of the promise made to them when they went away to war.

But there is a phase of the veterans' training program that is not well and good. It is already subject to serious abuses. If they are not corrected, either by regulation or by changes in the law, they can discredit the entire program and cost the nation hundreds of millions of dollars.

The abuses lie in the so-called on-the-job training. The veteran trains to become a soda jerk. His employer gets by paying him a very small wage while he is "training." If he is unmarried he gets $65 a month subsistence through the Veterans' Administration. $90 if he is married.

Can Grow Into Scandal

Here is another form of the abuse which can grow into a scandal. A veteran returned to his job as vice president of a bank in a Kentucky town. His salary was $2,600 a year. He certified that he was in training to be executive vice president, a job that would pay $8,000 a year, and on this basis he applied for his subsistence allowance of $90 a month.

Getting $10,000 a year, you can be in "training" for a $20,000 a year job and draw your $90 a month subsistence if you are otherwise eligible for it. In other words, there is no limitation on salaries in relation to subsistence grants.

The Veterans' Administration has heard of instances in which lawyers returning to law practice have claimed and been granted subsistence allowance because they made a showing of being "in training" for a different branch of the law. The number of veterans getting on-the-job training is increasing at a geometric ratio. In some instances it is little more than a racket. The connivance of employer and employee is winked at by the state government.

The VA's Powers Limited

The VA in Washington has issued several orders to field offices calling for supervision to determine whether veterans are pursuing bona fide training courses or whether they are trying to circumvent the law. But the VA's powers are extremely limited under a law so loosely drawn that sound administration is all but impossible.

The number of veterans in training on April 30 was 620,444. This included 478,239 in colleges and other institutions and 142,205 getting on-the-job training. The latter is thus nearly 25 per cent of the total which is three or four times the rate of three months ago.

The percentage getting on-the-job training will increase as more and more veterans are turned away from overcrowded colleges and as word of this easy money gets around. The division of responsibility follows a familiar pattern dictated by states rights congressmen determine the national strategy. The federal government pays out the money for veterans subsistence. But the states have sole supervisory authority.

Educational Benefits

Of the educational benefits the law says: "No department, agency, or officer of the United States, in carrying out the provisions of this part shall exercise any supervision or control whatsoever over any state educational agency or any educational or training institution."

That is a parody of states' rights. The money flows off the federal printing presses and the states have the right to mispend it as they see fit. This works in strange and wondrous ways.

The county commissioners of Montgomery county in Maryland announced that they had approved on-the-job training for four veterans in the county engineer's office. They were to be paid $60 a month by the county and would get $90 in federal subsistence. This, said the announcement proudly, would save the county $360 a month and thereby four more veterans could be hired.

The average veteran is eligible for three and a half to four years of subsistence while he is in college or in training. By April 30 a total of 2,180,939 applications had been filed. It takes only simple arithmetic to show what this can cost.

It helps to feed the mounting flame of inflation. Thereby it reduces the value of the benefit to the veteran who is giving all his time to train himself in a profession or a craft.

BIRDS AND MEN

Birds are wise enough to be tenants of a sheltering tree. Given song, instead of words, they can get along as birds.

None can gather more of food than the commonest of the brood. None has ever grown so skilled as a better nest to build.

Birds may quarrel, now and then, but on equal terms they buy life's requirements till they die.

Men are different! One can boast he is cleverer than most, Richer gifted in the arts. Often that's where hatred starts.

(Distributed by International News Service)
The president decided that further investigation into the causes of strikes is necessary. The investigation will run concurrently with the continuing investigation into the fall of Babylon and the burning of Rome.

Harry took a strong position on the secondary boycott. He hauled off and sat down.

The secondary boycott is when pickle packers picket the cucumber patch. This advertises the dispute at the source.

But the more Mr. Truman examines his inheritance the more it seems to consist principally of a large kettle of fish.

It isn't enough that he should win the Murphys, Lewises, Whitneys, et al, but he also finds the Blacks and Jacksons in his legacy.

The "nine old men" may have been dull but they were dignified.

The "horse and buggy court" members didn't carry daggers under their black nightgowns.

When the sterling liberals now on the bench agree, they can't agree on why they agree. This is the only court that issues dissenting opinions on its reasons for assenting opinions.

LOOKING AT LIFE

By ERICH BRANDEIS

It seems that every time the OPA opens its mouth it puts its foot in it.

Now comes another OPA official, George Moncharch, whose imposing title is Enforcement Chief, loudly bewailing the fact that there has been "a terrible loss of patriotic motive," and that is why enforcement of price ceilings is becoming increasingly difficult and why the black markets flourish all over the land.

That remark is just so much hogwash, just as much as Senator Charles W. Tobey's crack about our "world law of honorability" and his threat to "crack this thing over our heads."

I would like to remind the honorable senator from New Hampshire and Enforcement Chief Moncharch (pardon me if I sneeze) that both of them are in office by the grace of those whom they now insult.

It is ridiculous to accuse the people of America of lack of patriotism and to threaten to crack them over the heads.

The American public is just as patriotic as it ever was, but it is sick and tired of OPA stupidity and inefficiency and it is going to get rid of that outmoded and reactionary outfit, just as it got rid of prohibition when the war emergency became a nuisance and a screen behind which a lot of bureaucrats could hide their inefficiency and keep out of the poorhouse.

I don't know Mr. Moncharch's antecedents nor his qualifications for his job.

But I do know that people much more prosperous, much more able and just as decent to see the least are now buying butter and meat and sugar and nylons and shirts in the black market because they don't want to go hungry or naked.

What has patriotism got to do with it, anyway?

I had plenty of chances to buy in the black market during the war.

I did not buy a nickel's worth that way.

I knew that the stuff was needed to win the war.

But who benefits from the OPA now—outside of the thousands that are its suckling pigs?

When thousands of cattle are being slaughtered because there is no feed, when farmers can't get decent prices for butter, when shirts are being held in the warehouses because manufacturers can't make a profit, where does the "patriotic motive" enter into the problem?

I am not writing a treatise on the merit of the OPA, one way or another.

But I do say that our public servants should stop insulting their employers—you and me—and confess that they are scared to death of losing their jobs.

And the more they yammer and holler and whine and scream, the sooner they'll lose their jobs.

I personally don't want any Hitler in this country.

From Me To You

By MESEALL

On June 15th the campaign for the collection of food for those in need on the other side of the ocean will be over as far as Lawrence County is concerned. For a bang-up ending... the theaters of New Castle are presenting a morning matinee... the cost of admission will be two (2) cans of food... this should represent a nice little sum to add to the amount already contributed and with the cash that has been sent in... there is every indication that the total can count of our community will reach 35,000. This will be the amount that the local committee has handled... there are many dollars that have been sent in to the National Organization that we have no count. Of you who haven't done your part... and wish to see a show and at the same time contribute two cans to this drive... then Saturday morning is your opportunity.

Didn't we mention but a few days ago about concerns in town getting down to business and doing something to make their place better looking... The Penn Theatre did away with an old sign Wednesday morning... and the improvement is really something to talk about. Yes, we have faith in the merchants of New Castle... and the merchants have faith in you... so both going together there is no reason for any one ever again to say that we here in New Castle are not keeping our housekeeping up-to-date.

We understand that our Mayor... John F. Haven... is really concerned about the traffic problem that has risen in head during the past few months. Heretofore there has been traffic... but since spring has arrived more cars seem to be on the street... In fact Mayor Haven is so interested that he is digging down into the roots of the problem and calling in experts on the subject. That's what we like in a public official... a chap that is big enough to admit that he doesn't know each minute detail but knows where to go in order that he might obtain the correct answer.

The Generals And 1948 G. O. P. Campaign

WASHINGTON, June 13. RELUCTANCE to believe that the 1948 Republican presidential nomination possibilities are limited to five men—Dewey, Stassen, Bricker, Taft and Vandenberg—had led some political observers recently to trot out two very "dark horses" indeed—Gen. George C. Marshall and General Eisenhower.

THE arguments made for these two distinguished military figures are not very impressive. No one, of course, disparages the character or capacity of the generals. Despite their utter lack of political knowledge and experience, without which any White House incumbent is under a certain handicap, few contend that either would not make a fine President.

THE obstacles to their selection are far removed from their personal qualifications. They are almost entirely a matter of practical politics. For example, there is the fundamental political fact that there is no such thing in national politics as a "dark horse," meaning a candidate, not seriously regarded before the convention, who either rushes in when things are in a tangle and captures the prize or is drafted in retort of this, the able and experienced Mr. Mark Sullivan cites the late Mr. Wendell Willkie as a "dark horse." Actually there was nothing in the least dark about Mr. Willkie's candidacy. For months before the 1940 convention he was widely discussed as a candidate.

For nearly a year he had with pen and voice been campaigning in all parts of the country. And certainly no one who witnessed the extraordinary personal fight he made at Philadelphia would associate the word "draft" with his effort. He went after the nomination with everything he had and landed it in an absolutely breathless state.

THE nearest thing to a "dark horse" in our times was Warren G. Harding, who was nominated by Ross Perrowe after Gen. Leonard Wood and Gov. Frank Lowden had fought each other to a standstill. But Senator Perrowe was the last of the big national bosses and he had Mr. Harding up his sleeve all the time. There are no more Perrowes and there are no more Lowdens and Woods to afford such opportunities if there were. And, of course, it would be ridiculous to think of Mr. Harding as having been drafted.

THE truth is no one is ever drafted without conniving in the draft. The so-called "drafts" in our time—Roosevelt in 1940 and again in 1944—were both phony, and so admitted by everybody except the most blinded and besotted of his partisans. There are a number of reasons for the lack of substance to the talk of Generals Marshall and Eisenhower as "dark horses" who might be "drafted." Chief among these is that neither General Marshall nor General Eisenhower wants to be President. Their most intimate friends who have their confidence are completely convinced that in the case of General Eisenhower, one of these friends is so convinced that he is certain should General Eisenhower be promptly would take effective steps to make it impossible. And, say this friend, he knows exactly what steps to take.

IN THE case of General Marshall he has as much, and perhaps, more disinclination to be President than General Eisenhower. But, in addition, he is a sixty-ninth year veteran who took the oath of office and was 71 years old before his term was half over. This is too old. It was always too old—even in the days when the presidential burdens were lighter and the problems far more simple. Today, 70 is no age to take on this job—and no clear-headed man of 70 could think of doing it. And if this is true of General Marshall it is equally true of General MacArthur.

THUS, the plain truth about Generals Marshall, MacArthur and Eisenhower is that they will neither condescend to the "draft" nor allow themselves to be counted as "dark horses." To do either is to betray their dignity and not in harmony with their character. In the first place, they are not conniving men. In the second place, it is impossible to conceive of them conniving for an objective they do not want to reach. The reasons they do not want to run for the presidency are personal, clear, simple and convincing. Of course, there will be votes cast for them by scattered delegates in both the Democratic and Republican conventions. But, barring an act of God, and notwithstanding the present screams of rage from the professional labor bosses because he had the courage to stand up against them, the Democratic candidate is going to be Harry Truman. And the Republicans will nominate Vandenberg, Taft, Bricker, Stassen or Dewey.

THE INNOCENT BYSTANDER

Any was one of the most popular girls in town, and when she married the church was crowded. After the ceremony, friends rushed to kiss the bride. After about half an hour the breathless girl looked puzzled and, looking down at one little man, she said:

"I don't know you. Why are you kissing me?"

"Little Man (scratching his head)—I dunno, lady. When I joined this line outside, I understood it was for nylon hose—Salina, Kan., Journal."

The Parent Problem

By Garry C. Myers, Ph. D.

PARENTS SHOULD NOT PROVOKE CHILDREN

"Train up a child in the way he should go and when he is old he will not depart from it," is often quoted. "Parents, provoke not your children to wrath," is less often quoted.

Properly balanced, these two Biblical injunctions epitomize the best principles of child upbringing ever stated. Both imply marked self-control and self-discipline in the parents.

It has come to my attention, every now and then, that some father who obviously never learned self-discipline but beats his child brutally, even the child of twelve or older, and does so on the slightest provocation, refers to me as advocating corporal punishment, supposing I, as a child expert, approve his way.

Does Not Approve

I certainly don't approve his way. He has failed to read my column carefully. He has failed to read in my column my frequent warning against corporal punishment of older children and my constant advice that we should aim to be done with physical punishment ("spanking" of the child by the time he is five or six, my oft-expressed belief, moreover, that the parent who exercises self-control, understanding and wisdom finds it requires very little application of pain to the lot to build in him the foundation of restraint necessary for safety and citizenship.

This father has failed to observe that I constantly insist that parents try to be as one in disciplining the child, planning ahead together a definite program, solemnly covenanting on the few situations in which they will administer punishment and exactly how, so as to have no occasion to decide in a fit of anger that the youngster should be punished or the way.

Balance Efforts

Moreover, this father has failed to balance his efforts at restraining his child with equal efforts at cultivating in this child ready co-operation through abundant sympathy, affection and companionship, through celebrating the child's successes. He just has not worked out a philosophy for guiding his child as growing personality.

Most of all, this father has not realized the first step in disciplining a child is discipline of himself. In this direction he needs constantly to keep before his mind, "Parents, provoke not your children to wrath."

I have advocated for twenty years selective spanking of the young child (not with the forefinger and other limitations and balances). I shall continue to do so. But I hope no one is so careless or stupid as to refer to me in defense of indiscriminate spanking of young children or spanking or whipping except in very extraordinary situations, of children over five or six at all.

Those who refer to my teachings in that way, grossly misinterpret me and do immeasurable harm to childhood, family happiness and to our concept of democracy.

What People Say

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON—President Truman: "Strikes against private employers cannot be ended by legislative decree. Men cannot be forced in a peacetime democracy to work for a private employer under compulsion."

WASHINGTON—Secretary of State James F. Byrnes prepares to leave for the Paris big four conference: "I would greatly regret it if our people regarded the conference as a football game or any progress that is made as a diplomatic victory for one country or another because all of us must have but one hope. That is making some progress toward a just and enduring peace."

BOURNEMOUTH, Eng.—Prime Minister Clement Attlee pledges the socialists in Britain: "We do not seek to force our ideas on other countries. We do not attempt to force a dull uniformity of the world. We ask for others the freedom we want for ourselves."

WHEELS

The invention of the wheel was a great step forward in the history of civilization. The use of the wheel took a lot of weight and a lot of work off the feet.

Wheels carry most of the big loads nowadays.

Feet still have a lot of work to do. They need good care to keep them in good working order.

An important thing to keep in mind is that the feet are part of the body.

They are affected by what is going on in other parts. An ulcer or a pain in the foot may be due to disease in some distant part of the body.

Sometimes a lot of useless and unnecessary treatment is given to the feet when the cause of the trouble is located in some other place.

Good medical care is just as helpful for the feet as it is for the lungs or the eyes or the throat.

The World and the Mud Puddles

O. P. A. IN BUILDING

In view of the alleged purpose of Housing Administrator Wyatt to "guarantee" Henry Kaiser to the tune of Two Hundred Seventy-five Million Dollars to stimulate his production of prefabricated houses, it is interesting to read a letter written by the president of one of the leading firms in the manufacture of these houses, T. P. Dixon, of Bay City, Michigan.

In the face of the greatest demand for moderate priced homes this country has ever known, our factory stands practically idle. Up until 1942, at which time civilian home-building was practically stopped, we manufactured and shipped from six hundred to seven hundred fifty complete homes annually.

Our factory employment was around two hundred and our office personnel around fifty. Today our factory employment is thirty-five, most of whom we are retaining only because they have worked for us continually from fifteen to forty years. The same exists in our office.

The same price set-up that was created during the war for the specific purpose of stopping or discouraging production of lumber remains in effect.

As a consequence, the mills continue to produce premium price items suitable for ship-decking, heavy construction, airplane stocks, etc., and refuse to produce such items of small dimension, flooring, ceiling, siding, trim, etc., as the ceiling prices on same are too low to allow their production on a profitable basis.

In other words, makers of prefabricated homes are ready and eager to proceed ahead and to avail themselves of a record market. But the absurd price policies of OPA prevent their obtaining materials. Instead of giving established prefabricators a chance, the administration proposes to put them under still further handicap by financing a newcomer into the field.

It is true that Mr. Kaiser was a supporter and contributor to the Fourth Term, enjoying many juicy government war contracts. But it is neither fair to an established industry nor helpful to the housing program to single him out for exclusive government favor. Subsidies and guarantees are not required to meet the housing problem. The urgent necessity is to get rid of OPA meddling.

Demobilizing In Great Britain Is Proceeding Rapidly

British To Attempt Full Peacetime Employment For First Time In History

BOURNEMOUTH, Eng., June 13.—(INS)—Herbert Morrison, lord president of the council, told the British Labor party conference today that the economy of the United Kingdom is swinging from war to peace "not only at breathless speed, but with astonishing smoothness". Morrison said that Britain's demobilization program is operating on so fast a schedule "it will be virtually completed by December 31". The Laborite cabinet member addressed the conference as he introduced the party's executive committee report.

Full Employment

He revealed proudly that Britain is going to attempt full peacetime employment as national policy, Morrison explained.

"Full employment has never yet been attempted as a policy in peacetime Britain, or by any other country in the world with our form of Democratic government and our standards of personal freedom."

"This government is going to attempt it. The government is rapidly building an over-all planning organization with what amounts to an economic general staff, complete with planning committees and working parties."

The council president predicted that "things will be pretty rough" for Britain in 1947. He said:

"There will be many grim aspects to life next year. The famine threat may well dominate 1947 as badly and perhaps worse than it dominated 1946."

Japanese Attack Communist Action

TOKYO, June 13.—(INS)—The Japanese government announced today that it will take control of food and other production unless strikes and "lawless demonstrators" cease.

In a strongly-worded announcement, the government attacked recent Communist activities which, it was claimed, "under the pretext of democracy hold law in contempt". The announcement said that government control of industry may be necessary to avert starvation and inflation.

building.

According to August B. Cross, owner and manager, former member of the Air Service Command, who has had 17 years previous jewelry experience, expense has meant nobility in the installation of the most modern display room and other features that go to make one of the brightest and lightest stores in the city.

Upon entering the store customer's eyes are immediately attracted to the very modern inlaid flooring which is set off by a large model of a diamond that is inlaid with the floor covering. The latest type of lighting known as cold cathod lighting, is installed throughout the store insuring uniform light regardless of the brightness or darkness on the outside.

Beautiful Wall Cases
Beautiful natural wood wall cases and show cases, which are manufactured in the city have been placed in the store making an attractive appearance from the front door to the diamond room. The latter, which is an innovation in this area, is a delightfully appointed room where customers can select with ease taking as much time as they desire the diamond they wish to choose, yet be secluded from the prying eyes of passersby.

Only the highest grade of jewelry will be sold in the store, with 10 and 14 carat gold predominating. It is announced. A large selection of repair parts is carried with the repair department under the supervision of Robert Schauble, manager.

Five clerks will be on duty at all times during the store's open hours to serve the public.

Anniversary Year For Dr. Grant Fisher

Notable Anniversaries Are Being Observed In 1946 By East Side Minister

The year 1946 is a marked year in the life of Dr. Grant E. Fisher of Adams street, this city. Fifty-five years ago he graduated from Grove City college.

This anniversary will be celebrated by the survivors of the Class of '91 on June 14 in the home of these members in Grove City.

May 3 marked the fiftieth anniversary of his being graduated from the Western Theological Seminary, Pittsburgh. Three members of the Class of '96 were entertained on May 16 in the Arlington apartments in Pittsburgh by Dr. James A. Kelso, president emeritus of the seminary and another classmate.

June 18 will date the fiftieth anniversary of his marriage to Miss Carroll E. Loupe, of Grove City.
This marriage ceremony was performed by Dr. William E. Stenmons of the Second Presbyterian church of Mercer, assisted by President
Isaac C. Ketter of Grove City college and Dr. William McConkey, minister in the Presbyterian church of Grove City. The wedding march was played by Prof. Hermann Pohl-mann, head of the Department of Music of the college, while two vocal selections were rendered by Mrs.
Pohlmann, voice teacher in the college and a member of the Metropolitan Opera company of New York.
On the preceding day Miss Loupe,
having completed a post-graduate course in philosophy with additional lectures under President Isaac C.
Ketter and Prof. Borden P. Borne of Boston University, was given the degree of Doctor of Philosophy.

Owing to the illness of Mrs. Fisher this anniversary will be observed quietly in their home.

Baruch Control Plan Of Atomic Power Revealed

WASHINGTON, June 13.—(INS)—Bernard M. Baruch on Wednesday gave a "frank and full" report to the senate atomic energy committee on the plan for world control of atomic power which he will present to the United Nations atomic commission Friday.

Sen. McMahon (D) Conn., committee chairman, told reporters following the closed door session with Baruch that the senators "seem to be in agreement with the Baruch plan."

McMahon said:

"Mr. Baruch discussed with us the plan he intends to propose on Friday thoroughly. He answered all questions frankly and fully."

McMahon said he was "personally hopeful" the plan would be successful.

He declared, however, to reveal any of its details, saying:

"Let him announce it Friday."

Similarly the tall, elder statesman who is this country's representative on the U. N. atomic energy commission refused to discuss the proposal for publications.

"I'm not going to say anything until I say it Friday in New York," Baruch said.

Mystery Corporal In Jewel Theft Case Identified

WASHINGTON, June 13.—(INS)—The war department announced today the arrest of Roy C. Carlton, of Kilgore, Tex., as what the army termed the "mystery corporal" involved in the $1,500,000 Hessian jewel theft.

A war department spokesman revealed to reporters that the former technician fifth grade was taken into custody at Kilgore by agents of the U. S. Customs Service on charges involving him in the robbery of the famed Hesse-Darmstadt crown jewels from the Kronberg castle in Germany.

Identification of the corporal completed the roundup of the four suspects in the case. Others are Wac Captain Kathleen Nash, her colonel husband, Jack Durant, and Maj. David Watson.

The spokesman said he was uncertain when the arrest was made, saying it probably took place yesterday.

The shoulder is currently being emphasized in Hollywood styles. The cold type, no doubt.

Flier Lands Thanks To Wife, Police And Obliging Motorists

Plane Without Radio Or Lights Lands On Lightless Airfield In Illinois

ELGIN, Ill., June 13.—(INS)—An alert wife, quick-acting policemen and cooperative motorists' split the credit today for saving flyer Robert F. Crane, 26, from death in a thrilling air drama over Elgin.

Crane, a former army aviator was flying a new Luscombe Silvalre two-seater plane from Dallas, Tex., to Des Plaines when a severe storm arose just north of Peoria, Ill., last night.

Lacking both radio and landing lights, Crane could not land at his small air field in the vicinity. He headed for home through the rain, hail and darkness, following the outline of the Fox river to Elgin.

Using the street lights for guides, he zoomed low over his house in desperate attempts to attract his wife, Maxine. She recognized his trouble signals, and quickly telephoned the Illinois state police. She told police:

"My husband is in a new plane without radio or lights, and he's looking for an air field to land in."

The Elgin air field has no landing lights, but the state police headed that way and rounded up about 20 motorists enroute. The drivers focused their headlights and flooded the field with the needed illumination.

Crane, his fuel supply dangerously low, landed safely a few moments later.

Public Schools To Open September 4

Dates For School Calendar Are Decided Upon At Board Meeting Wednesday

New Castle public schools will open on Wednesday, September 4, 1946, and close on Friday, June 6, 1947. These dates were decided upon Wednesday night when the New Castle school board adopted the school calendar for the coming school year.

Holidays will include Friday, October 25, when the midwestern convention of the Pennsylvania State Education Association meets here, Armistice Day, November 11, Thanksgiving, from Wednesday afternoon November 27 to Monday morning December 2, Christmas, from Friday afternoon December 20 to January 2, 1947, Easter from Friday afternoon March 28 to Monday morning April 7, and Memorial Day Friday May 30, 1947.

The first semester of the senior high school closes Friday January 24, 1947 and the second semester begins upon the same day.

Dr. Frank L. Burton reported that the spring registration showed that 514 pupils will enter the public schools at the beginning of the 1946-47 school years.

More than 80,000 army and 24,000 navy combat aircraft will shortly have been declared surplus. They are not usable for civilian purposes.

PARIS, June 13.—(INS)—Student riots rocked Paris today when hundreds of college men and women staged protest parades along the boulevards following discovery of a vast black market in diplomas at Sorbonne university.

Scores were injured and at least 35 demonstrators were arrested during a four-hour clash with police between the Latin quarter and the Place de la Concorde.

The student protest resulted from the university decision to delay examinations after disclosure that black marketers were selling the answers for 30 thousand francs.

Young War Veteran Faces Electric Chair For Woman's Death

MEDIA, Pa., June 13.—(INS)—Frederick Morris, 24-year-old Chester war veteran who claimed that combat had shattered his nerves, faced death in the electric chair today for the rape murder of Mrs. Rose Reynolds, 49, of Lenni, last April 2.

Judge Albert Dutton MacDade pronounced Morris' doom after a jury took only ten minutes to return a verdict of guilty. The convicted man's attorney has four days to file an appeal for a new trial.

Judge MacDade also held Herbert Zisser, the Chester taxicab driver who drove Morris, a companion and Mrs. Reynolds to the death scene, in $2,500 bail for the grand jury on charges of being an accessory.

Morris confessed that he and Grant Tyler, 23, of Chester, attacked and fatally beat the woman in a Chester park. Tyler committed suicide by gas and Morris unsuccessfully attempted to end his life by slashing his throat.

MORE OF STOLEN JEWELS LOCATED

FRANKFURT, June 13.—(INS)—American army officials disclosed today that Major David F. Watson has led them to the recovery of previously-located Hesse crown jewels worth between 40 and 50 thousand dollars.

They were hidden near U.S. army headquarters.

This was the first indication that any of the gems—estimated to value more than a million and a half dollars—were still in Germany. Most of the jewels had previously been smuggled into the U.S.

Watson has been arrested for complicity in the fabulous theft.

PROPERTY SALE CONTESTED

Before Judge W. Walter Braham on Wednesday testimony was taken in the proposed sale of the Brown property on East street. De Grun Renfrew the occupant of the property bid $20,000 for the property but the New Castle school board objected to the sale upon the grounds that it had bid $32,000 for it, approximately the amount of delinquent taxes.

Counsel for Mr. Renfrew pointed out that the sale of the property would place it back upon the taxable list and that one of the reasons for the offer was a sentimental one. In that the present occupants have lived there many years. The property is that formerly occupied by Lieutenant Governor William Brown and his family.

The school board has bid $32,000 for the property in order to use it for a site for a proposed field house and gymnasium. The property is a large one and Superintendent Frank L. Burton told the court it was a desirable property for school purposes.

The commissioners approved the sale but the final decision must come from Judge Braham.

SENTENCE AFTER PLEA

Andrew P. Murcko, driver of the car that collided with another car Saturday night at the corner of Highland and Sheridan avenues, was fined $100 and costs and given three months in the county jail by Judge W. Walter Braham Wednesday.

Loses Money Running Hotel In Las Vegas Declares Proprietor

LAS VEGAS, Nev.—(INS)—The husky citizen with the sad-looking pan sat at the hotel breakfast table with his head in his hands.

"I don't know what to do," he moaned. "I lost another $5000 in here in the Casino last night and had to wire for more money. If this keeps up, I'm ruined!"

Suggested someone sagely: "Why not quit and get out of the joint while you've still got some money left?"

The mourner's head jerked up like a drinking chicken.

"Quit?" he almost shouted. "Get out of the joint? I can't! I own it!"

Can't Be Consoled

There was a moment's startled silence. Then a customer consoled: "Well, at least you're making money on the rest of the hotel—the dining room and the rooms and the bar and night club."

Once again, the proprietor's melancholy pan did its puppet-like jerk. "Yeah?" he said. "That's what you think. With OPA and all the restrictions and the food shortage, actually I lose money on the rest of the hotel. Unless the Casino kicks in, it costs me thousands a week just to run the place!"

In case you're curious, the harried host was one Horace Heidt, erstwhile music maestro who abandoned band-leading to go into the restaurant, resort hotel and associated businesses some time back. Before you break down and shed buckets of tears about his bad luck, bear in mind that his baton-wielding and other enterprises brought him estimated millions in bygone days and he still is a notoriously solvent citizen. Nor does his Nevada-Biltmore Casino normally lose.

Need Legalized Gambling

Nevertheless, he had a point—namely that, without Nevada's legalized and taxed gambling, half the hotels and other establishments in this wide open town couldn't stay in business at present prices.

Although some of Las Vegas long-time residents are somewhat reluctant to admit the city's dependence on the spin of the wheel, the turn of the card and the roll of the dice, even they concede that many a business would close its doors without the casinos—and the current population of some 20,000 (about 12,000 more than it was six years ago) would be curtailed more than slightly.

The diehards like to stress that it's also a good marriage and divorce town, the former out-ranking the latter by three to one—possibly because the spicing price is from seven bucks up while the slicing minimum is about $180.

Gambling Big Industry

They also mention that it's a mining town, a summer and winter playground area for vacationists and a region of scenic beauty that attracts a steady trek of tourists. All of which is quite true.

The gambling is king and lady luck is queen and nobody knows it better than hotel, restaurant and night club managers who run casinos in connection.

Business-like Bill Moore who bosses the Last Frontier, legendary resort hotel, frankly admits that providing room, board, entertainment and sports facilities for the happy honeymooners, gay or grim divorcees, visiting vacationists and the like costs him thousands of dollars monthly.

But that clinking sound of silver dollars you hear emanating from the casino doors by night and day more than makes up the deficit and gives William income tax worries, too—poor boy!

It's the same story at the El Rancho Vegas, the El Cortez and the other hotels around town. Without their casinos, they couldn't give you the same lodging, food and fun facilities for twice the price.

Obviously then, the set-up is a cinch for a high class vacation at bargain basement prices—providing you don't bet. Simple, eh?

Perhaps. But the victories of the gambling virus over many a virtue virtue in the human bloodstream has kept Las Vegas fat and prosperous. So if you come here aiming to avoid the contagion, you'd better be a man of mighty character!

And don't depend on the little woman to hold you down. These low-down tricksters have rigged a temptation she can't resist!

No Reports Klan Active In State

HARRISBURG, June 13—(INS)—State police officials said today there were no reports indicating the Ku Klux Klan was active in Pennsylvania after 21 years of inactivity.

Secretary of the commonwealth Charles M. Morrison said the KKK was not registered in Pennsylvania despite reports to the contrary.

A Georgia corporation identified as the Ku Klux Klan had registered in Pennsylvania in 1925 but failed to renew its charter under an act which fixed a deadline for filing in 1933.

Kiwanians Hear Talk On Insurance

Manager Of Metropolitan Company Here Discusses Insurance As An Investment

New Castle Kiwanis club members heard an interesting talk on insurance as an investment feature at their meeting in The Castleton, Wednesday noon, when they were addressed by A. Kenneth Hemer, local manager of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company, new member of the club.

His talk was an enlightening one, bringing out many features about insurance not ordinarily thought of by the layman.

A system of shorthand was invented by Timothy Bright during Queen Elizabeth's reign.

Former Chaplains In Attendance At Institute Sessions

NEW WILMINGTON, June 13—United Presbyterian ministers of the tri-state area who served as chaplains in the recent world conflict, form the most active group in the summer Theological Institute now in progress on the Westminster College campus.

The former chaplains have conducted several of the meetings and their older co-workers in the ministry have been greatly interested in their stories concerning military service. Their appraisal of the subjects studied in seminary which were of most valuable to them in serving the armed forces, is expected to have a profound influence on seminary curricular programs in the future.

Outstanding leaders of the church have conferred with the chaplains to help the former servicemen to adjust themselves to their former pastoral duties.

Chaplain Delegates

Chaplain delegates include: S. Irvine Acheson, New Wilmington; Clarence F. Anderson, E. McKeesport; Eldin L. Bennet, Midway; James H. Blackwood, Pittsburgh; Howard Bruce, E. McKeesport; J. Russell Dugan, Xenia, O.; H. Paul Henderson, Claysville; Donald C. Irwin, Detroit; Walter E. McCrory, Wilkinsburg; Vance A. Meanor, Pittsburgh; Ewing W. Murphy, Tarentum; DeWitt M. Safford, Santa Ana, Calif.; Wiliam C. Shane, Youngstown; Robert C. Shaul, Clinton, Mass.; Kenneth S. Sheppard, Kenion, O.; and C. Donald Vogel, Royal Oak, Mich.

Housing Permits

HARRISBURG, June 13—(INS)—The department of labor and industry reported today that 302 municipalities issued 1741 permits during April for the construction of residential dwellings capable of housing 1965 families and valued at $11,387,496.

A department survey showed that 685 building permits for non-residential structures valued at $2,716,390 were issued during the month. A total of 3444 permits for installation work worth $4,505,935 and 282 permits for installation projects totaling $124,199 were granted, it was added.

Tired Kidneys Often Bring Sleepless Nights

Doctors say your kidneys contain 15 miles of tiny tubes or filters which help to purify the blood and keep you healthy. When they get tired and don't work right in the daytime, many people have to get up nights. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder. Don't neglect this condition and lose valuable, restful sleep.

When disorder of kidney function permits poisonous matter to remain in your blood, it may also cause nagging headache, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, a stimulant diuretic, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. Doan's gives happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.

SCHOOL BOARD PROVIDES FOR WAGE INCREASES

Action Taken At Meeting Follows
Out Provisions Made In Budget For 1946-47

Following out provisions made in the budget for the school year of 1946-47, the New Castle School Board granted a ten dollar per month "cost of living" increase to professional and non-professional employees on Wednesday night and a five cents per hour increase to hourly employees. The increase will add about $48,000 to the payroll of the school system for the coming year.

All salaried non-professional employees, excepting the superintendent of schools and school treasurer, whose salaries were recently set by the board at increased figures will get the increase effective July 1, 1946. The hourly employees will receive their increase effective July 1 also. Professional employees (teachers, principals and supervisors) except those on leave of absence, all temporary professional employees and all permanent substitute teachers will receive the increase effective September 1.

The lengthy review was expected to continue at the Friday session which does not begin until 1:30 p.m.

Young Judea Group Installs Officers

Installation of officers took place at The Castleton, Tuesday evening at 7:30 o'clock at the meeting of the Young Judea group, with Mrs. L. F. Kohn as the installing officers. They are: president, Ruth Edelstein; vice president, Marian Sandert; secretary, Geraldine Ginsburg; and treasurer, Dorothy Gilman. Advisors were present, and they were presented with lovely coronets: Mrs. Gus Slovinsky, Mrs. Berson Caplan and Paula Levine. Sylvia Moresky was the master of ceremonies.

At the conclusion of the installation, dessert was served on nicely arranged tables, and an informal period followed.

All gossips understand Russia's suspicions. She thinks America and England have been secretly married.

Heavy Cruiser Chester Now Decommissioned

PHILADELPHIA, June 13.—(INS)—The heavy Cruiser USS Chester, veteran of six combat "star" operations in the Pacific, today became the sixth cruiser to join the Philadelphia group of the sixteenth fleet and the first warship in the inactive fleet to be decommissioned.

The navy has classified the ship in "an out of commission, in reserve status." The 10,000-ton Northampton class vessel will be inspected regularly to insure that the dehumidification machinery is operating properly and a standby crew from a tender vessel will carry on routine maintenance work.

Commanding officer of the Chester is Commander Morton Sunderland of Bala-Cynwyd, Pa., and Hampton, Va. Commander Sunderland will be detached shortly to proceed to his new assignment as naval attaché in Athens, Greece.

Sixteen Years Old

The 16-year-old warship, named after the shipbuilding town of Chester, Pa., was built by the New York Shipbuilding Corporation in Camden, New Jersey, in 1929. During her campaigns in the Pacific she took part in the sinking and destruction of three enemy destroyers, one cargo vessel, one large landing craft, one patrol vessel, and several smaller landing craft.

At the outbreak of the war the Chester was en route from Wake Island to Pearl Harbor. A month later she started her offensive campaign by striking at the Japanese held Marshall Islands. After being damaged by a bomb hit off Tarawa in February 1942, she returned to Pearl Harbor for repairs and then joined American forces in the Tulagi and Solomons campaign.

In Coral Sea Battle

Her next action was the memorial battle of the Coral Sea, in which the Carrier Lexington was lost. The Chester went to her assistance and picked up many of the carrier's survivors. In the course of the battle the Chester was credited with knocking down six enemy planes.

The ship received her second battle damage late in 1942 when she was torpedoed amidsthips by an enemy submarine and was forced to put into Sydney, Australia, for repairs. Support of the Tarawa operation and bombardments of Tarawa and Wotje followed, and then she steamed northward to take part in the shore bombardment of the Kurile Islands.

Following repairs she was assigned to support the invasion of Tarawa and then took part in shore bombardments on several Japanese held islands before joining the mighty fleet covering the Allied landings on Leyte. During the

Garden Notes

By Lewis C. Dayton,
County Agent

PLANT GREENS OFTEN IN VEGETABLE GARDEN:

Lettuce and other greens planted at frequent intervals throughout the summer will provide a steady supply of crisp, fresh roughage crops.

Such crops are easily grown, and provide an endless supply of fresh products from the garden. For most satisfactory results, plantings should be small, but made often.

If space permits, squash can be added to garden plantings being made at this time. Bush varieties are planted in hills space about 6 feet by 6 feet. Vining varieties have the hill 8 by 12 feet. Squash thrives on well-rotted manure and complete fertilizer.

Summer squash, used when young and tender, provides a palatable dish. The correct time to pick is when the outer rind is soft and before the seeds begin to fill. Winter squash can be kept as long as ten months if properly stored.

The island of Tasmania, southeast of Australia and belonging to it, is an ancient plateau which has been extensively and irregularly dissected by the action of running water.

Holidays To Cost 8,000,000 Tires

NEW YORK, June 13.—The hot weather this summer will take a toll of 8,000,000 or more tires when American motorists start out on the greatest vacation driving spree in the nation's history, the Rubber Manufacturers Association warned today.

The normal loss, the association said, is 6,000,000 tires—more than a full month's production even at the current record-breaking rate of tire output.

It added the greater loss is expected because a large proportion of the casings now in service are worn from punishing use during the war years.

The statement said casing are not available in normal supply and will not be for several months to come and, if passenger cars are to be kept in service, strictest attention must be paid to all of the basic rules of tire care.

Suggestions for Care

As part of a program outlined by the association for motorists to conserve tires and to hold a minimum highway accidents drivers are urged to: (1), Fight the desire to "open her up", because high speeds and resulting heat build-up within a casing are the greatest enemies of tire performance (2), Check air pressure regularly and keep it constant to avoid destructive flexing of fabrics within the tire (3), Recap when treads become smooth so as to keep your car rolling until new tires become available in good supply.

Where PROTECTION Means PERFECTION

A parachute and a prescription have this in common—each must be made with consummate skill and painstaking attention to the smallest detail to assure the perfection that means life protection. If you were buying a parachute, you wouldn't select the cheapest one. Nor should "price" be the prime consideration when you have a prescription to be filled. Select a pharmacy that enjoys a reputation for professional integrity and skill and then you can be certain that your medicine will be right in every respect—including the price. For the perfection that means protection—bring your prescription to ECKERD'S.

Society AND Clubs

EAST SIDE GARDEN CLUB JUNE PROGRAM

East Side Garden club was entertained for its June meeting in the form of 1 o'clock luncheon at the home of Mrs. W. D. Kelly, Norwood avenue, Wednesday afternoon.

From a very attractively decorated table, Mrs. Arthur Martin and Mrs. C. R. Brenner poured.
On answer to roll call, members named "An Enemy of a Tree".
Mrs. J. Albert Wilson presented the program of the afternoon and introduced Mrs. Brenner, who reviewed the book "Green Cargoes" by Ann Dorrance, an interesting account of how seeds and plants spread from their original native habitats.

Mrs. Harold Ferber read a paper on the "Most Unique Garden in the World", one man-made by an American agriculturist on an island in the Pacific. She also read a short article on a "Tinan garden".
"Oliver Ames Does His Bit" was the title of a humorous poem read by Mrs. J. A. Wilson.

Mrs. E. L. Davenport presided over a short business meeting.
A special guest was Mrs. Katherine Duff.

July 10 the club will meet with Mrs. Sylvia Sturdevant as hostess.

PASCARELLA ROZZI CHURCH WEDDING

Miss Leona Pascarella, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Pascarella of 707 South Mill street, and Peter J. Rozzi, son of Mr. and Mrs. Vincent Rozzi, 217 Friendship street, were united in marriage Monday morning at 9 o'clock in St. Vitus church.

Rev. Fr. Nicholas DeMita officiated before an altar embanked with ferns and flowers.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a white gown with lace bodice and net skirt made en-train, edged with ruffle. Her tulle veil was caught with an orange blossom crown and was edged with satin bows. She carried a white prayer book marked with white gardenias and streamers of Stephanotis.
Miss Rita Seinkner, as maid of honor, wore a gown of pink marquisette and carried red roses.

Doris Pascarella was her sister's junior bridesmaid and wore a blue taffeta gown, pink net skirt, and carried red roses.

Anthony Medure served the bridegroom as best man.
A wedding breakfast, dinner and a reception in the evening took place in the King Humbert hall.

Mr. and Mrs. Rozzi departed on a wedding trip to the west, and upon their return will reside on South Mill street.

Out of town guests included Mrs. Mary Sobolewski, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Yanuck, Mr. and Mrs. Louis Pascarella, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Pascarella of Canton, O., Edna and Ray Palmer of Youngstown, O., Joseph Caruso and Mr. and Mrs. Bill Robb of Hillside.

B. & O. Veterans
Members of the B. & O. Veterans assembled Wednesday evening in the Ecclesian hall, South Jefferson street, for a 6 o'clock luncheon with Mrs. Robert Drumheller and Mrs. Fred Freese in charge of arrangements.

Following serving, games were enjoyed, with prizes going to Mr. and Mrs. Carl Jewell, Mrs. Perry Birk and R. H. Richter.
Meetings of the group will be resumed in September.

B. P. W. CLUB HEARS STATE PRESIDENT

Speaker at the June dinner meeting of the Business & Professional Women's club Wednesday evening in the coral room of The Castleton was B. P. W. state president-elect Miss Grace B. Daniels, of Wilkes-Barre.

Introduced by Miss Florence C. Davis, chairman of the membership committee in charge of the evening's program, Miss Daniels spoke on "Federation Membership".
In Pennsylvania, she said, B. P. W. with 84 clubs and 5000 members has great opportunity to set a standard of progress, she said. She emphasized the opportunity the federation affords for a broadened outlook and exchange of ideas.

Born out of the first World War, B. P. W. is "now entering a new era," she said. It has become an institution one of whose purposes is to give the business and professional women's group an opportunity to expand and its greatest advantage is its unrestricted unlimited membership.

She closed on a challenging note asking the club to pledge its help to bring Pennsylvania up from seventh to first place in membership on the national roster.

Other state and District No. 2 officers who were guests at the meeting were Miss Frances Murray, of Beaver Falls, a state public affairs chairman, Mrs. Sara Sankey McCune, state parliamentarian, and Mrs. Helen McKinney and Mrs. Clara Anderson, both of Ellwood City, respectively incoming and outgoing chairmen of the district.
Dinner was served at tables attractively decorated with pink and white peonies and pink and green candles in crystal holders.

For Miss Amy Druschel, an impressive short memorial service was conducted with a candle in her memory lit by Miss Lora Kaatz.

On the program were several musical highlights, a piano solo by Miss Clara Ann Bratschie, who played "Witches' Dance" by Paganini-Wallace, and later Mrs. George E. Strehler sang a solo, "Morning" with Mrs. Fred Wedley as accompanist.

During business with Miss Mary Scherger presiding, the club voted to give a campship to the Y. W. C. A. camp and also one to the Girl Scout camp.

For the club committee working on the GNCA membership drive, Miss Mary Bigley reported that a total of 29 new GNCA members had been secured. Those who served on the committee with Miss Bigley were Mrs. Edith Vogan, Miss Lora Kaatz, Miss Jeanette Hutton, Miss Geraldine Fry, Miss Helen White and Miss Della Glenn.

Announcement was made of the national convention July 7-12 in Cleveland. Miss Mary Scherger and Miss Mary Ellizabeth Dolan were elected delegates and Miss Nannie Mitchell and Miss Olivia Griffiths alternates.

Installation by Miss Daniels of officers for the coming year at a candlelight installation ceremony brought the meeting to a close.

Membership committee in charge of arrangements was Miss Florence C. Davis, Miss Helen Meyer, Miss Lora Kaatz, Mrs. Martha Smith and Miss Helen White.

Von Bora Society
Catherine Von Bora Missionary society met in the home of Mrs. Anna Barnsley, 126 West Laurel avenue, Tuesday evening with Mrs. Ben Agnew co-hostess.

Mrs. Bertha Brown, the leader, chose as her topic "The Christian Home".
The group decided on a picnic to take place at the home of Ingeborg Halgren, 511 Meyer avenue, on July 9.
The next meeting will be on September 10 at the home of Vivian Monah.

Mother's Circle
Mother's Circle of the First Methodist church will meet at the home of Mrs. J. K. Heese, Glenmore boulevard, Friday afternoon, June 14, at 2 o'clock. Hostesses are Mrs. Fred Stoll, Mrs. E. C. Gatrall and Mrs. Walter Smith.

TIFEREH SISTERHOOD OFFICERS INSTALLED

Members of Tifereth Israel Sisterhood held its final meeting of the season in the synagogue Tuesday evening when an impressive floral installation of officers for the coming year was conducted by Mrs. William Cosel.

Preceding the meeting a tureen dinner was served at seven o'clock. Musical highlight of the evening was two groups of songs sung by Miss Marie Dukewicz. Her first group devoted mainly to familiar semi-classical numbers. Later she sang a group of Polish folk songs and her presentation received enthusiastic applause.

Officers installed for the ensuing year were: honorary president, Mrs. M. Slavovskiy; first vice-president, Mrs. J. Cobb; second vice-president, Mrs. Abe Cohen; secretary, Mrs. Sam Schwartz; recording secretary, Mrs. M. Waldman; financial secretary, Mrs. A. Rosenberg; treasurer, Mrs. H. Pittorff.

Mrs. J. Cobb, program chairman, introduced Mrs. Cosel who conducted the installation. Mrs. Sam Levin, incoming president, spoke briefly.

Mrs. Slavovskiy presided over business during which officers and chairmen gave reports. In appreciation of her work of the past 11 years as house chairman, Mrs. Sam Wolfe was presented with a lovely gift. Mrs. Wolfe in turn presented a gift to the outgoing president in appreciation of her service.

Refreshment tables were centered with flowers and lighted by blue and white candles. Out-of-town guests were Mrs. Louis Abramowitz, of Detroit, and Mrs. A. Apkowitz, of Pittsburgh. Singing of the Hatikvah with Mrs. Cosel as accompanist brought the meeting to a close.

Bethany W. M. S. Members of the Women's Missionary society of Bethany Lutheran church were entertained Wednesday evening at the home of Mrs. Fred Singer, East Linton street. Mrs. Singer conducted the devotional period.

Mrs. Eugene Reynolds presented an interesting paper on the theme "Patterns for the Christian Family." An informative report of the Ellwood City convention was given by Mrs. Clyde Turner.

A delicious lunch was served by the hostess, aided by her mother, Mrs. Michael Schmidt. A picnic for the families is being planned for Wednesday evening, July 10.

Friday D. A. R., Flag Day program, The Castleton. S. O. E. Mrs. Howard Warnock, Scott street. T. A. W. D. Weisbaker, hostess. S. S. D. Mrs. John Scungio, Mercer street. "Kus Kus Ka" chapter, D. A. C., 11 a. m.-2 p. m., The Castleton.

Mrs. Frank Kolz son Bob and daughter Joan of Miami, Fla., are spending the summer with the former's mother, Mrs. Fred Wilson of Spruce street.

PERSONAL MENTION

Mrs. Alice Herbert, the Misses Dorothy May Brincko and Stella Herbert, Andrew Turek, and Steve Brincko attended graduation exercises at the University of Pittsburgh Wednesday at which J. Arthur Turek received the degree of master of education.

Autoist Injured By Skidding Car

Ernest Travis, of Youngstown, required surgical attention in a physician's office Wednesday evening after he was struck by a skidding car, operated by Carl Wellington of Detroit, after his own auto had skidded seven miles east of this city, near Princeton, Route 422, according to state police.

According to the investigation Travis' car slid down a slippery hill, swung around, the rear wheels striking guard rails.

He got out of his car, went to the rear of the machine, inspecting damage when the car driven by Wellington, also slid down the hill, striking Travis and his car. The car was forced over an embankment.

Sprinkling System At Deshon Annex Bought For Schools

Other Action Taken At Meeting Of School Board On Wednesday Night

Automatic sprinkling equipment now in the buildings of the Deshon Annex will be purchased from the city by the school board at a cost of $1,000. The school board authorized the purchase Wednesday night after some discussion.

When the city advertised for bids for the sprinkling system, the school board bid $500 and this was the only bid received. The city refused the bid but said the equipment could be purchased for $1,000.

Two of the board members expressed dissatisfaction at the actions of the city in the matter. Dr. W. Fulton Jackson and A. C. Hyde pointed out that the city had already received over $12,000 for the equipment in addition to $1,300 yearly rent for buildings on an investment of about $4,500. They also said it was indicated at the time of the advertisement for the sale that the city tentatively agreed to sell the equipment to the school board for $500.

The New Castle hospital asked for and received permission to use the auditorium of Benjamin Franklin Junior High school, August 20

Contracts Awarded By School Board

Typewriters And Other Equipment Ordered Purchased For City Schools

Typewriters, duplicators and other needed equipment were contracted for Wednesday night by the New Castle School Board when it met for its monthly business session.

An order for approximately 70 typewriters was divided between the Castle Stationery company and Frank Webster. The Castle Stationery company bid $86.24 for Underwood typewriters and Webster bid $86.17 for Royals. The 70 typewriters to be replaced will be sold by the board and a substantial sum will probably be realized from the sale.

The Castle Stationery company was awarded the contract for three No. 92 duplicators at a price of $475 each and six No. 90 duplicators at a price of $98.50 each.

The Tranter Manufacturing company of Pittsburgh was given a contract for a power saw for vocational work at its bid of $304.35 and a joiner at $137.35.

Superintendent of Buildings and Grounds S. G. Ligo reported that chimneys on the George Washington, Lincoln-Garfield and Arthur McGill schools were in need of repairs. He was instructed to have the chimneys examined by someone competent to do so, and report the approximate cost.

Secretary and Business Manager John B. Bechtel was instructed to advertise for bids for coal for the coming year. He was also instructed to advertise for bids for seven 16 millimeter sound projectors for use in the schools and also for supplies and equipment for the installation of a permanent record system for the school system. Advertisements for bids for tax duplicates were also ordered.

Authority was granted to pay the Castle Stationery company $450 for a mimeograph machine recently ordered and $2250 to the Wallace-Tiernan company for the new Chlorinators for the George Washington and Benjamin Franklin junior high schools, less credits for the old ones which have been scrapped.

Authorities estimate that life has existed on earth for about 2,000,000 years.

Ask Permission For Boxing Show At Stadium Here

Sometime late this month or in July a boxing show will be held at Taggart stadium under the auspices of the City Recreation Board. Representing the recreation board, School Director C. L. Shira on Wednesday night asked the school board's permission to use the stadium at a date to be announced later for a professional boxing show. The permission was granted and the arrangements for the show will go forward.

DEAN PARK HAS PET CONTEST

Children from the Dean Park playground held a pet show on Wednesday afternoon. A great variety of animals participated. Prizes went to Tom Murphy for a pet dog, Frank Patterson who also entered a dog in the contest, and Gary Scalzo for a guinea pig. Walter Jenkins Elvera Fava and Viola Naples were judges for the show.

Learning About the Kingdom

Highlights On The Sunday School Lesson

By NEWMAN CAMPBELL
The International Uniform Lesson on the above topic for June 16 is Matt. 6:9-13; Luke 9:18-27, 46-48, 57-62, 11:1-4, 12:1-12, 17:20, 21, the Memory Verse being Matt. 6:10, "Thy kingdom come. Thy will be done, as in heaven, so on earth."

"It came to pass that as He was praying in a certain place, when He ceased, one of His disciples said unto Him, Lord, teach us to pray, as John also taught His disciples."

Jesus answered them: "When ye pray, say, Our Father which art in heaven, hallowed be Thy name. Thy kingdom come. Thy will be done, as in heaven, so on earth."

"Give us day by day our daily bread. And forgive us our sins, for we also forgive every one that is indebted to us. And lead us not into temptation; but deliver us from evil."

Jesus' prayer is a very simple one, isn't it? We ask that God, our Father, name be hallowed here on earth. That means if we are sincere in our petition, that we will not blaspheme or take God's name in vain, but will truly exalt it.

We ask for daily bread; not luxuries, only bread that we may live. Comforts that we receive in life are not to be despised, not even luxuries, but we ask for what is necessary.

Then we ask that our sins be forgiven us as we forgive others their sins against us. If we do not freely forgive those who sin against us, how can we ask that our sins be forgiven? And by forgiveness is meant not only lip service saying we forgive, but really overlooking the offense and admitting the offender to the former friendship, or, if not that, at least holding no grudge against him. We expect others to forget our transgressions completely, but only can we demand that if we also forget theirs.

Jesus had emphasized in His teaching and training of His disciples that a life of service was what He expected of them. "If any man would come after Me, let him deny himself, and take up his cross, and follow Me." Even so, Jesus found them arguing among themselves as to who would be greatest in the kingdom of heaven.

It seems impossible that these men who lived with the Lord, saw His self-sacrifice and heard His teaching, could stoop to so low an argument.

"And Jesus, perceiving the reasoning of their heart, took a child, and set him by Him, and said unto them, 'Whosoever shall receive this child in My name receiveth Me; for he that is least among you all, the same shall be great.'"

Luke doesn't tell us what the disciples' reaction to this rebuke was, for John changed the subject, according to Luke. The little child, the most helpless and least egotistical of beings, was used as an illustration of the humility and lack of self-seeking that Jesus expected of His friends and the bearers of His gospel.

"And it came to pass, that as they went their way, a certain man said unto Him, Lord, I will follow Thee whithersoever Thou goest. And Jesus said unto him, 'Foxes have holes, and birds of the air have nests; but the Son of Man hath not where to lay His head.'"

Jesus had no home. In the intervals of His travels when He needed rest, there was no where He could go. Nazareth had cast Him out; He had left Capernaum; the Samaritans refused to receive Him. He wanted this man to realize, not Christ's poverty, but the wandering life of self-denial He would be forced to lead if He followed the Master.

A man Jesus commanded to "Follow Me" said he first must go and bury his father. This really meant that his father was old and he did not feel he could leave him until his death. But Jesus told him that his work was to go and preach the gospel, and nothing should come before that duty.

Another said, "Lord I will follow Thee; but let me first go bid them farewell, which are at home in my house," and received the same answer. "No man having put his hand to the plough, and looking back, is fit for the kingdom of God."

Being asked by the Pharisees when the kingdom of God was to come, He answered, "The kingdom of God cometh not with observation. Neither shall they say, Lo here! or lo there! for behold, the kingdom of God is within you."

Those who are attune with the teachings of Jesus have the kingdom of God in themselves, or "amongst them" as the revised version says. So we pray, as Jesus taught us, "Thy kingdom come. Thy will be done, as in heaven, so on earth," and try to so live that we help its coming.

Seven Conferences Are Scheduled On Westminster Campus

NEW WILMINGTON, June 13.—Westminster College campus has a "Chautauque" atmosphere this summer with seven conferences scheduled in which at least 1400 visitors will be entertained.

The United Presbyterian church under the direction of the Pittsburgh Xenia Theological Seminary and the Department of War Work of the Board of Christian Education is holding an institute of theology at the present time with 75 ministers from the tri-state area present. The program ends Saturday.

Other conferences scheduled are: June 13-23: Speech Institute for High School pupils. June 20-28: Northfield Girls Conference. July 6-13: Younger Peoples Synodical Conference. July 13-20: Older Peoples Synodical Conference. Aug. 2-9: Annual Foreign Missions Conference. Aug. 19-24: Conference on Church Music.

NO SUBSTITUTE FOR PROPER HAY CURING

Proper curing, always an important factor in hay making, has no satisfactory substitute in so-called "preservatives," some of which have no value whatever.

Tests at two agricultural experiment stations showed absolutely no benefit from the use of one preservative of this type. Dependence on such things to preserve tough hay is a very dangerous business, and may lead to loss of both hay and barn.

Salt—20 pounds per ton of hay—makes the hay come out damp and palatable, but warns that "salt should not be expected to preserve hay too tough for storage."

After hay has dried for a day in the swath it will cure just as fast and much more evenly in small windows. If let in the swath too long the leaves become too dry and shatter. Exposure to dew or rain greatly reduces the value of hay.

When raked up the amount exposed to such damage is greatly reduced. It is "an excellent rule to rake before night everything cut before noon. A half toll with the side-delivery rake the next day will hasten the final drying."

Find Them Arguing
Jesus had emphasized in His teaching and training of His disciples that a life of service was what He expected of them. "If any man would come after Me, let him deny himself, and take up his cross, and follow Me." Even so, Jesus found them arguing among themselves as to who would be greatest in the kingdom of heaven.

It seems impossible that these men who lived with the Lord, saw His self-sacrifice and heard His teaching, could stoop to so low an argument.

"And Jesus, perceiving the reasoning of their heart, took a child, and set him by Him, and said unto them, 'Whosoever shall receive this child in My name receiveth Me; for he that is least among you all, the same shall be great.'"

Luke doesn't tell us what the disciples' reaction to this rebuke was, for John changed the subject, according to Luke. The little child, the most helpless and least egotistical of beings, was used as an illustration of the humility and lack of self-seeking that Jesus expected of His friends and the bearers of His gospel.

"And it came to pass, that as they went their way, a certain man said unto Him, Lord, I will follow Thee whithersoever Thou goest. And Jesus said unto him, 'Foxes have holes, and birds of the air have nests; but the Son of Man hath not where to lay His head.'"

Jesus had no home. In the intervals of His travels when He needed rest, there was no where He could go. Nazareth had cast Him out; He had left Capernaum; the Samaritans refused to receive Him. He wanted this man to realize, not Christ's poverty, but the wandering life of self-denial He would be forced to lead if He followed the Master.

A man Jesus commanded to "Follow Me" said he first must go and bury his father. This really meant that his father was old and he did not feel he could leave him until his death. But Jesus told him that his work was to go and preach the gospel, and nothing should come before that duty.

Another said, "Lord I will follow Thee; but let me first go bid them farewell, which are at home in my house," and received the same answer. "No man having put his hand to the plough, and looking back, is fit for the kingdom of God."

Being asked by the Pharisees when the kingdom of God was to come, He answered, "The kingdom of God cometh not with observation. Neither shall they say, Lo here! or lo there! for behold, the kingdom of God is within you."

Those who are attune with the teachings of Jesus have the kingdom of God in themselves, or "amongst them" as the revised version says. So we pray, as Jesus taught us, "Thy kingdom come. Thy will be done, as in heaven, so on earth," and try to so live that we help its coming.

Extending Japanese Fishing Privileges

Wide Area Of Far Pacific Will Be Thrown Open To Japanese
For Fishing

TOKYO, June 13.—(INS)—The Allied Control Council for Japan agreed today to General MacArthur's request to extend Japanese fishing privileges to wide area of the far Pacific in order to avert widespread starvation in the occupied nation.

The council adjourned after agreeing to hold a special session June 17 to consider the important problem of breaking up feudal estates and redistributing land to tenant farmers.

W. McMahon Ball, British commonwealth representative, submitted a proposal to turn over seventy percent of Japanese farm lands to tenants now cultivating the farms.

The council approved the proposal to extend fishing grounds to include waters around Formosa, Kamchatka peninsula, Iwo Jima and areas eastward almost to the Marshall Islands.

In another development at today's meeting, the so-called "May Day" statement which alleged that MacArthur's directives were not being carried out by the Japanese, was removed from the council's agenda.

Second Marriage For Bride

"My second marriage will take place at 6 p. m. It will be informal. What should I wear and what should the groom wear? What kind of corsage should I wear? Who buys corsages for both mothers and my maid of honor? We plan to have our families only attend the ceremony and at 7:30 have a reception for relatives and friends. How should these invitations be worded? Must we give wedding pictures to the attendants? To anyone else? Must we stay at the reception until our guests leave?"

Answer: You may wear both dinner clothes or evening clothes. Or if you intend to go in for less formality, you may wear a street-length dress and the groom may wear a dark business suit.

Your corsage may be anything from sweetpeas to orchids—depending upon the groom's purse and your own taste. For it is the groom who should supply it, as well as those of the maid of honor and the two mothers.

Bob Feller Halts Boston Red Sox Winning Streak

Rapid Robert Fans 10 Bosox In 7 To 2 Win

Jim Bagby Former Indian Is Victim, Homers By Keltner, Seery, Williams Feature

NEW YORK, June 13.—(INS)—The Brooklyn Dodgers were on their way back home today from the west with the certain knowledge that the National League pennant race isn't over yet and won't be until they can shake off the St. Louis Cardinals.

The Dodgers lost five straight—including two in a row to the Cards—up to last night when they finally turned on their most persistent pursuers and won in a long struggle by 10 to 2.

The Dodger slugfest, in which they made 15 hits, was the highlight of the evening after the Cleveland Indians, with Bob Feller on the hill, had topped afternoon's play by breaking the Boston Red Sox winning streak at 12 games.

Homers Feature

The Indians also were the first western club to win at Boston this season as Feller struckout 10, scattered nine hits and walked none to take the decision over Jim Bagby, who failed to finish, 7 to 2.

Ted Williams hit a home run for Boston, but homers by Pat Seery and Ken Keltner won the game for the Indians.

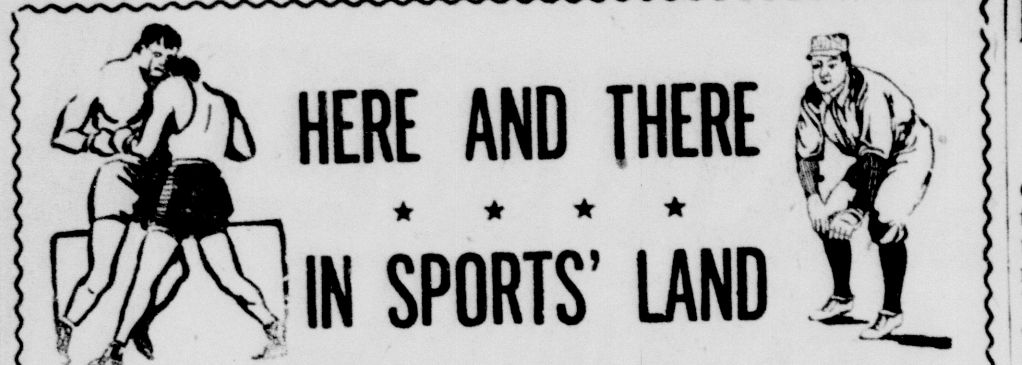

The New York Yankees obligingly lost a night game by 6 to 5 to remain 10 games behind the Red Sox.

Browns Down Senators

In the only other American league contest, the St. Louis Browns outlasted the Washington Senators by 1 to 0 in 10 innings.

The Chicago White Sox game at Philadelphia was postponed on account of rain.

The New York Giants, continued their plummeting toward the cellar by losing to the Cincinnati Reds, 3 to 2.

REGISTRATION for the National Open Golf tournament in Cleveland is under way. This Speaker, erstwhile eagle eye of baseball and who served as a commissioner of boxing in Cleveland is one of the registrars.

College baseball takes on a national hue at Fenway park, Boston, Friday when an East vs. West All-Stars game will be played. Nick George, son of Mr. and Mrs. Nick George, 307 East Lutton street, serving with the army of occupation in Germany, is writing sports on a Regimental newspaper. Prior to army service he contributed athletic news to The News. No doubt Nick will become a sport scribe after Uncle Sam presents him with an honorable discharge.

Because there are numerous sports affairs day and night here and only so much space in which to record the occurrences, it has been found necessary by the sports staff to "boil down to the bone" accounts in order to give all of the reports publication.

While human fights human for money, animals fight for survival.

An affray of such was witnessed yesterday by Owen Fox, local naturalist at Gaston Park. The combatants? Groundhog vs. cat. The victor? Groundhog. He reports that the groundhog was mothering several little ones and the cat, like all felines, sneaked toward their nest, bent upon possibly destroying the groundhog's offspring. Mother Groundhog rushed the cat, struck and in a minute they appeared like whirling dervishes. The cat clawed free of the clutch and fled. The groundhog pursued the feline for 30 feet, time and again crashing into and bowling over the cat, which, battered, bruised and beaten, crawled into the woods to lick her wounds.

A hard fight for survival goes on always between fish and also between fish and snakes.

For instance, several years ago, near the Pump station, a famous bass hole where Jim Kaves caught a 5½ pound brown trout Sunday, two young men, whose word is good with Here & There, were casing in the dusk-blanketed creek. Suddenly they saw a commotion then a splash as though a stick of dynamite had exploded. Upward from the water "flew" a snake. When it fell to the water the "water" exploded again and again went the snake a second time. When it fell the water was churned as though by a fan then quiet settled over the stream. The snake floated to the shore. The fishermen hurried to the opposite bank and found it had been killed (by bass) in their opinion. When Owen Fox was asked about this he stated "There is no more savage fish in the world than a bass. It will strike at anything. It is a cannibal, at heart. Yes, I believe the young men," he stated.

Here & There has been reliably informed that, having a penchant to do something out of the ordinary, a group of girls went "peeping" into autos parked along country lanes several nights ago, which, to say the least, is a risky act.

A well known expert on dogs reports that when a canine loses all teeth the demise of the dog is not far distant. Bud Fleeger drove to Elk creek, Lake Erie, and returned with one small bull-head and two other equally small fish. The big catfish, just before his arrival, had been lolling in the creek, easy to see. However, they moved out into the lakes but not before one fisherman had caught two, each 18 pounds, some ounces. However, he put them on a stringer. They attacked each other with their horns and in the struggle, both got off the stringer and are back in circulation.

Bessemer Raps Wampum Legion, 6-3

WAMPUM, June 13.—Bessemer Cementers made up for their loss to Wampum Tuesday night when they outscored the Legion here last night 6-3 in a County loop affair.

W. Anderson made his first hit on the rubber for the Cement City club and although relieved by Harry Hardesty in the fifth, got credit for the win.

Senior High School Athletic Budget Submitted For Year

Meeting Wednesday night, June 12, the New Castle School Board adopted the athletic budget for the senior high school for the coming school year. The budget shows estimated receipts of $24,700 with expenditures the same.

The receipts include an estimated $22,850 from football and $1,850 from basketball. Track athletics have no receipts. Football is estimated to show a profit of $6,000, basketball is estimated to show a net loss of $14,000 and track is estimated to show a loss of $1,900.

Salaries for coaches and administrative services are shown at $6,375 for all sports.

Susany Hurls Edenburg To Win

Return of Andy Susany to the rubber after an absence of some years seemed to pep up the slumping Edenburg Tigers as they rallied behind him to down the Ellwood Vets last night at the Tigers' Field, 4-3.

Susany doled out but four hits, while his teammates collected seven off hurler Ferencan of the Vets.

City Sportsmen To Enter Horses In Wampum Show

Report Record List Of 108 Entries In Pleasant Valley Show—Beginning Friday

New Castle sportsmen will enter a total of six horses in the Wampum show which is to get under way Friday afternoon at the Pleasant Valley farms.

Exhibitors who will take horses to the annual event are as follows: J. Clyde Gilliland, two horses; James McGeorge, Dr. Homer Allen, John Murdock and Mary L. Campbell, one horse each. All of the local animals to be entered in the show are of the saddle type.

Harold W. Marshall, manager of the show, announced today that a record number of 108 entries have been registered so far, the greatest number in the history of the affair. The show will begin Friday and continue through Saturday afternoon and evening. Judging will be made on the saddle horses, harness horses and the equitation classes, as well as the jumping classes. Stables from Butler and Beaver counties, and from the Pittsburgh district comprise most of the entries, in one or more of the 24 classes.

The show is being sponsored by the Wampum Rotary club for the benefit of various veterans organizations.

SOFTBALL CARD WASHED OUT

The incessant rains late yesterday afternoon and evening caused the entire city industrial softball card to be washed out. The games will be re-scheduled at a later date.

New Bedford Tops Nashua, 6-5

In a postponed game of Tuesday, New Bedford downed the Nashua club last night at the Nashua field 6-5, behind the good hurling of John Kuplec. Mel Moorhouse's two-bagger in the sixth inning kept the Bedfords ahead and clinched the contest. Paul Brabo was the losing pitcher.

Score by innings: R H E.
New Bedford... 0 0 0 2 0 6 6 4
Nashua... 2 10 0 1 0 5 9 3
Batteries—New Bedford, J. Kuplec and W. Kuplec; Nashua, Paul Brabo and Hill.

Umpires Assigned To Games Tonight

Following are the umpire assignments in the city league for tonight: At Ryantown, Ferrucci and Braykovitch; at Washington, Hartman and Orlando; at E. & A. field, Dombroski and Fabian; at Cedar street, Price and Kheram; at Marshall field, Richards and Morgan; at Lee avenue, Priscario and Conti.

CHURCH GOLF NIGHT

Weather permitting, the New Castle church golfers will go to the Castle Hills course this evening for a round of matches. If the matches have to be called off tonight they will be played Monday evening, it was announced.

There will be a carp shipment for Shenango river arrive at the New Castle post office at 10 a. m. Friday, it was announced by Clint White. All fishermen interested can help stock these fish.

'Grid Eye' Will Be Provided For Taggart Field

Electric Score Board Also Ordered For Installation At Football Stadium

Football fans won't be able to gripe at the head linesman for his spotting of the ball in football games at Taggart Stadium in the future. At the Wednesday night meeting of the school board, purchase of a "Grid Eye" was authorized at a cost of $150 from the Sporting Goods Store.

The Grid Eye is a new gadget which was developed several years ago for the purpose of determining exactly where the ball was resting. It has been used in college and professional ball and said to be accurate. In order to give the fans here the benefit of the best in equipment the board has ordered one but at the same time the board has taken one of the joys of the game out for the fans. In the future, don't criticize the head linesman, yell at the Grid Eye.

An electric score board was ordered for the stadium also at a cost of $488 from the Lebanon Score Board Company, Mt. Vernon, Ohio. The board will also accommodate a clock which will be secured when it is possible to get one. The new score board will be operated electrically and is said to be an improvement over the manual control board which has been used here for years.

National Open Starting Today

Canterbury Course At Cleveland Scene Of Golfdom's Greatest Tourney

By DAVID J. WALSH
(International News Service Sports Writer)
CLEVELAND, June 13.—In the rarish atmosphere of the big top, strangely in conflict with the enstated strictures of the St. Andrew's hierarchy, golf's gaudiest melodrama was to meet its magic liaison today with that most durable of devotees, the galloping American.

The re-union between this mountain goat in human guise and his pet promotion will be effected, after five years of involuntary estrangement, along the most and lengthy reaches of the Canterbury country club where the National Open championship was once again to launch itself upon the great adventure.

Nelson Favored

For like so much else that seems to go along with this reinstated championship of 1946, the yardage here is the greatest in the history of title play, namely, 6,926 yards.

Nelson, the public choice in spite of a report which questioned the state of his health, was down for an early start in company with ex-P. G. A. champion Henry Pickard, playing the home course, and ex-open champion Gene Sarazen, appearing in his 23rd consecutive National Open. He tied with Little in 1940 at the end of 72 holes, but lost the play-off by two strokes.

Joe Louis Says Sparring Mates Deserve Credit

POMPTON LAKES, N. J., June 13.—(INS)—Joe Louis made mild history today, by saying that, if he retains his heavyweight championship next week against the assault of Billy Conn, all credit must go to his sparring partners.

Joe rested this morning, sitting on the back porch, chatting and getting an occasional look at the newspaper accounts of his training, and said:

"One thing sure. If I beat Billy Conn, it'll be on account of George Nicholson over there. George used to be my top sparring partner, but he's kind of old these days and doesn't like exercise. So we put him to work digging up the sparring partners and he did some sweet job."

Bell Is Good

"Why, this Jimmy Bell, he's just like Conn is. He throws a grand left hook and a jab and he keeps moving fast all the time. And that Al Hoosman, with his long legs and arms and ability to run is one of the toughest men to hit I ever saw." Later Joe went out mathematically on the other porch sitters. He counted up that he has boxed 113 rounds in training and will add to that total with workouts today, Thursday, Saturday, Sunday and Monday. He will wind up with approximately 150 rounds of boxing.

Conn To Resume Heavy Training

GREENWOOD LAKE, N. J., June 13.—(INS)—Billy Conn, challenger for Joe Louis' heavyweight title, planned to resume workouts today after a brief lay-off.

Conn's handlers felt he needed the rest to avoid going stale. Billy took a speed boat ride and his only comment on the coming fight was that if he won the title he wouldn't defend the crown this year. Income taxes, it was pointed out, would not make it worth while for him to fight again in '46.

Civics Defeat New Wilmington

With Jack Barber spinning a four-hitter and fanning 14 men, the Union Civics trounced the New Wilmington club in a North County league game last night, 6-2. While Barber had the opposition eating out of his hand for the entire game, his mates clubbed out 11 hits against hurlers Patterson and Sewell.

Hot Golf Played At Sylvan Heights

Fred Palmer Shoots Underpar 34 As Vernors Trip League Leaders Wednesday Eve

With the Palmer brothers shooting some red-hot golf, Vernors tripped the league-leading United Engineering sextet in their matches played in the Sylvan Heights league at Sylvan Heights golf course Wednesday evening. Fred Palmer shot an under-par round of 34, while F. Palmer had a 35. Other low scorers were Donny 36, Justice and Perry 37s, Ted Lach 38 and Mitty MacLodge 39.

Ellwood City Moose beat Standard Steel Springs, 6-0; Sons of Italy and Johnson Bronze halved, 3-3, and Duca D'Abruzzi defeated Universal Sanitary Manufacturing, 2½ to 1½, each of these two teams being shy two men on their squads. New Castle Moose drew a bye.

United still is in first place with 24 points, followed by Ellwood City Moose, 20½; New Castle Moose, 19; Duca D'Abruzzi, 16½; Sons of Italy, 16; Vernors, 14½; Standard Steel Springs, 11; Universal Sanitary Manufacturing, 10½; Johnson Bronze, 10.

Game Commission Seeks Land Held By War Department

Army Now Holds Some 57,549 Acres Of Land In State, Commission Learns

HARRISBURG, June 12.—(INS)—The state game commission was negotiating Tuesday with the federal government for the acquisition of some of the Pennsylvania land owned by the war department which could be used for wildlife purposes.

The department released statistics compiled by the National Wildlife Federation showing that the war department controlled in Pennsylvania 59 tracts of land totaling 57,549 acres. No breakdown was available.

Commission Director Seth Gordon reported that negotiations have been conducted for more than three months for "such lands which might serve our purposes." No deals have been completed, he added.

Statistics supplied by the Wildlife Federation, an independent organization, showed that the war department owned more than 23,000,000 acres of land in continental United States.

Commission officials said many of the war department owned tracts in Pennsylvania were too small to be used as wildlife sanctuaries and hunting lands and that some areas were fine agriculture lands.

North Hill Cards Defeat Panthers

North Hill Cardinals made certain of the first hill title in the American Legion Junior league race when they defeated the Wagner Panthers in a playoff game of the 3-3 tie played Tuesday evening at Washington Field last night, winning 11-5.

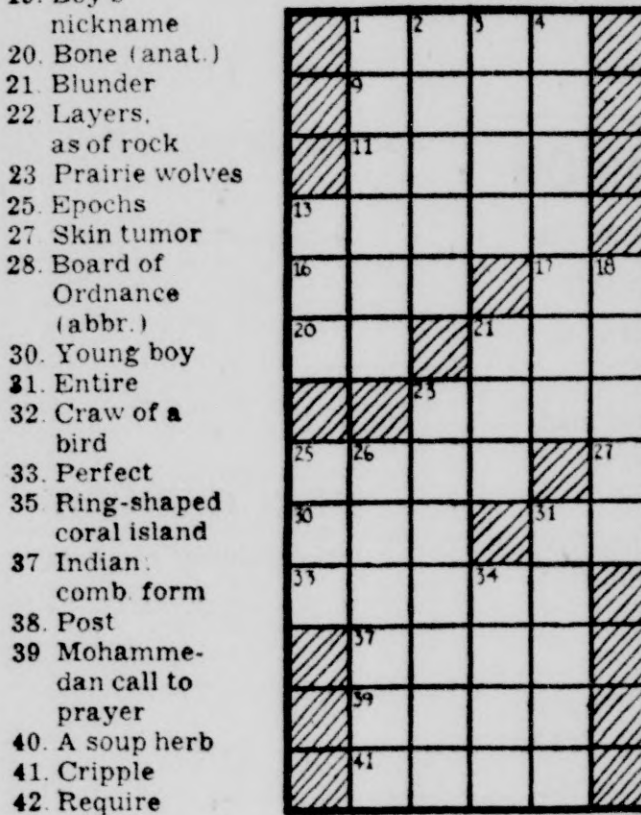

This is Carl Altman's second season with the Cards as coach and manager. Last season he piloted them to a tie for the title, but lost out to South Side Legion in the playoffs.

Jimmy Snow held the Panthers to six scattered hits, while his mates combined for 11 runs and 11 hits. Both teams erred plenty in the field, the diamond being wet. Watters had a homer with two on, and M. Altman a double with two on for the Cards while Carkito hit a triple with two on for the Panthers. H. Altman kicked in with two stellar catches in center field.
